Explosion and Fire Traps 20 Miners near Morgantown

2 Crews Caught Four and a Half Miles in Tunnel

Rescue Crews from Northern West Virginia Fields Summoned

Fire Retarding Efforts To Advance into Mine Shaft

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., July 9 (AP)—An official of the Purslove Coal Mining Company reported tonight that twenty miners were killed in an explosion in the concern's mine on Scott's Run.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., July 9 (AP)—An explosion which was quickly followed by a rescue-hampering fire trapped at least twenty men late today in the Purslove coal mining company's operation on Scott's Run. Two crews of miners apparently were caught four and a half miles underground shortly after 5 p. m. Estimates of their number ranged from eighteen to twenty-four but federal and state mine bureaus said their information was that twenty were caught. Rescue crews throughout the northern West Virginia fields were ordered to Scott's Run, which is six miles from Morgantown and less than three miles from Osage, where fifty-six men died in an explosion May 12.

Fire Delays Rescuers
The first reports were that the fire was retarding advance into the mine and the true state of affairs might not be determined for hours. About seventy of the mine's 300 employees were inside at the time of the blast. Twenty-six were checked off as least two dozen, and possibly more, went back to aid in rescue work without reporting.

The company announced tonight a tentative list of eighteen men who were believed trapped, and the wife of another man said she had determined he was still in the mine. At 10:30 p. m. a crew sent out word it was about 600 feet from the blast locale and hoped to reach it by midnight.

The tentative list:
John Boken, snapper, Purslove.
Charles Andy, 58, section foreman, Morgantown.
Ernest Lambert, 39, motorman, Purslove.
Albert McDonald, 26, section boss, Morgantown.
Mike Barbas, 55, Morgantown.
Leslie Stanton, 36, Purslove.
James Ponceroff, 24, cutting machine helper.
John Lewis, 42, loading machine operator, Purslove.
Willard Taylor, 27, Sabrator.
Russell Saffron.
Wesley Hickman.
R. H. Bennett.
Charles Lawson.
Andy Milish.
Johnny Wilson.
Eddie Wilson.
Richard Carr.
Dusenberry.

The wife of Joseph Oliverio, trackman, said she had established her husband was in the mine, although he was not on the company list. First reports were that fire was retarding advance but crews said late tonight that in spite of the heat they were making headway. Those were the first names reported and at company offices it was said a check was proceeding slowly.

Mine Given Award
The Purslove No. 2 mine about a year ago was given a United States bureau of mines safety award for producing more than 3,000,000 tons of coal without a fatal accident. Purslove No. 2 mines coal from the Sewickley seam and veteran employees expressed the opinion it was (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

War Production Board Refuses Permit To Build Electric Chair

Warden of South Dakota Prison Seeks Way To Carry Out Execution of Two Convicts

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—Warden G. Norton Jameson of the South Dakota penitentiary who needs an electric chair, got a polite but flat refusal from the War Production Board today, on his request for priorities to build one.

Jameson, operating under pressure of a court order which requires him to procure an electric chair in time to carry out an execution August 8, said he could see W.P.B.'s point of view. "They said that everything we need to build a chair involves critical materials badly needed in the war effort," he explained, "and there is no answer to that one. They just don't feel that the purpose to which we'd put the materials would justify diverting them."

Seeks Aid in Vermont
"At the same time, I have got to get an electric chair," he added wearily. "My next stop is Windsor, Vermont. They have offered to lend us one, under certain conditions, and I have got to get right up there and see about it. Time is getting short."

Capital punishment was barred in South Dakota for twenty-five years, until the 1939 legislature approved electrocution. Thus far, however, the legislature has failed to appropriate funds for a chair. Now, however, there are two prisoners in death-row at the penitentiary and the state courts insist that Jameson must carry out with the executions.

May Get Portable Chair
The warden said Indiana offered to lend South Dakota the necessary equipment but the costs involved seemed prohibitive. Whether the Vermont offer would turn out any better, he did not know. Jameson expressed interest in Mississippi's except electrocution can be used.

Extra Measures of Light Send Birds Northward, Doctor Says

By RENNIE TAYLOR
BERKELEY, Calif., July 9 (AP)—Extra measures of bright light and the development of glandular compounds cause birds to migrate northward, Dr. Albert Wolfson, University of California zoologist, reported today. Dr. Wolfson tricked several Oregon juncos, sparrow-like birds which winter in California, into flying northward months ahead of their normal time of departure. He exposed these birds to long periods of artificial light, and this, he said, set into motion a complicated physiological process which developed the urge to migrate. Absorbed Much Light

As the birds absorbed increasing amounts of light, Dr. Wolfson observed a quickening of activity of their endocrine glands, particularly the pituitary and sex glands. In that condition the glands secreted extra amounts of hormones which caused changes in the bird's physiology. One of these changes was the appearance of a new pattern of behavior. British Retain Initiative in African Battle

Keep Up Continual War of Nerves against Rommel Forces

By EDWARD KENNEDY
CAIRO, EGYPT, July 9 (AP)—Waging a war of nerves in the desert, Allied air and ground forces were reported tonight scoring a series of successes with continual patrol actions and aerial attacks on the positions of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel west of El Alamein.

British General Sir Claude J. E. Auchinleck is retaining the initiative he took when the present position some seventy miles west of Alexandria were assumed. The enemy movements of the past week have been mainly to counter Allied threats to the Axis flank. There are indications that Rommel would like a respite of two or three weeks before making another push toward the Nile but it was by no means certain that he would be allowed this much time to rebuild his strength.

British Annoy Enemy
Night sallies by the British are especially annoying to the enemy, according to prisoners, as the Germans usually base their operations so every soldier may get a good night's sleep.

Not knowing when a bayonet party will charge out of the darkness at them and having to jump into slit trenches when Allied planes come over, they have anything but a restful night.

The British patrols, operating mostly at night, ranged the curving southern sector of the front at the head of an expanse lying between the Axis' extended flank and the Qattara depression.

The Axis position on the south extends some thirty or forty miles to the west of a line drawn north and south through El Alamein but there was no indication that the British ground forces had ventured to the westward along the southern line held by the forces of Marshal Rommel.

Dust Is Grave Problem
Dust was a problem in the aerial operations but fighter bombers attacked enemy positions on the Axis airfields at El Daba and scored direct hits on planes refueling there. Enemy vehicles dispersed over the desert were also hit.

A fighter patrol downed seven enemy aircraft on one mission and another Axis plane was destroyed by anti-aircraft fire. Of three enemy aircraft raiding Alexandria last night, with no damage reported, one was shot down and another damaged by night fighters. In all the British reported six aircraft lost.

Nine Norwegian Seamen Killed
A GULF COAST PORT, July 9 (AP)—Nine Norwegian seamen were killed in the torpedoing of a small Norwegian ship May 30 in the Atlantic the Eighth naval district today announced.

Twenty-one survivors made port a few days later in two lifeboats, reporting that the submarine, speaking English with a German accent, asked them details of their ship, then gave them bread and a bottle of rum. The ship was armed but unable to use its gun because the submarine was not sighted until two torpedoes, which struck after midnight, blasted their ship to the bottom within twenty-five minutes. The crew was brought to a gulf port.

The three-day registration began at 2 p. m. Only Garrett county was exempt. McCormick Thanks Teachers
State OPA Administrator Leo H. McCormick, thanking the state's teachers and the other volunteers for the registration job, said the new plan would iron out most of the wrinkles. Lawrence W. Salfner, executive secretary of the Retail Gasoline Dealers Association of Baltimore, agreed with him. Salfner said that, under the new plan, the dealer would get just as much gasoline as he needed to cover the coupons he had collected. "As I understand it, there will be no promiscuous giving out of ration coupons," he said. "Those who apply must prove their need." (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Rival Factions May Agree To Obviate Primary

Urged by William Curran To Get Behind Single Slate

BALTIMORE, July 9 (AP)—A possibility that rival factions in the Maryland democratic party might unite behind a single slate of candidates to obviate a primary was voiced today by a Baltimore political leader.

William Curran said that all elements of the party should agree upon the strongest candidates for Congress and the legislature, commenting at the same time that Mayor Howard W. Jackson should be reelected. He told the Evening Sun that the present emergency demanded emergency action.

May Work with Jackson
Curran, a supporter of Governor O'Connor, was asked if his statement indicated that his organization might unite with backers of Mayor Jackson to eliminate the necessity for a primary. He replied:

"There is no reason why Jackson and I can't agree on such a program."

The unity appeal followed closely Governor O'Connor's announcement that he was a candidate for reelection and reports that Jackson would remain out of the gubernatorial competition.

Curran has told newspapermen that he expected to make public his political plans on Sunday. O'Connor defeated Jackson for the democratic nomination in 1938 in a close and fiery primary.

With reference to legislative candidates, Curran said:

As to Legislature
"It should be remembered that the men we elect to the legislature this year will serve for four years and they will have before them very important questions bearing on the war."

"And it is altogether possible that when the war has ended it will become the part of Maryland to lead the country in the business of reconstruction and return to normal American living."

"That being the prospect for the future, it should be possible to draft men of more than ordinary ability to serve in the legislature and in Congress."

"I think Howard Jackson should be the next mayor," Curran continued, "and it is extremely important to him and to the city that the senators and members of the lower House should be able men capable of handling the problems which the war and the days after the war will place before that body."

"People are not interested in ordinary politics at this time."

Dr. Charles Wells Out for Congress
ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 9 (AP)—Entering the Democratic race for the Congressional nomination from the second district, Dr. Charles J. Wells, defeated by Rep. William P. Cole, Jr., in 1940, promised a "real battle" for anybody seeking the office.

Filing a certificate of candidacy with State Secretary Thomas E. Jones, the Baltimore physician was the first to sign up officially for the second district race although H. Street Baldwin, Baltimore county commissioner's president, has announced he also intends to seek the Democratic nomination.

New Long-Range Flying Boat Is Designed To Carry Record Load

SEATTLE, July 9 (AP)—A new long-range experimental flying boat, built as a heavily armed overseas patrol bomber for the navy, made its first test flight today.

The veteran test pilot, Edmund T. Allen, and a crew of five took the plane into the air.

Built by the Boeing Aircraft Company, which originated and now builds the flying fortress bombers for the army, the ship was described as able to carry a larger bomb load than any naval plane now in use. Its range and speed were not disclosed. It carries the name "Sea Ranger" and has been designated by the

Von Brauchitsch Back As German Commander

Hitler Bows To Will of His High Command and Restores Field Marshal to His Former Post

LONDON, Friday, July 10 (AP)—The Stockholm correspondent of the Daily Mail reported today that Adolf Hitler, who last December assumed the "intuitive" military leadership of the German armies, has yielded to the demands of his high command and restored Field Marshal Walter von Brauchitsch as commander in chief.

Von Brauchitsch now is directing the general staff work of Hitler's summer offensive in Russia, the correspondent said he was told by neutrals arriving in Stockholm from Berlin. Field Marshal Fedor von Bock, who is directing operations on the central Russian front where the Germans have been reported in a break-through from Kharkov, is said to be answerable to von Brauchitsch, the Daily Mail correspondent declared.

Rent Freezing Plan Criticized By H. R. Gilbert

Requires Landlords To Submit to Injustices, He Declares

BALTIMORE, July 9 (AP)—Harry R. Gilbert, president of the Baltimore Real Estate Board, said today that members of his organization felt that "freezing of rents as of April 1, 1941, requires landlords to submit to injustices which should not be imposed upon them."

Discussing the future operations of the office of Lucien E. D. Gaudreau, area rent director under the office of price administration, Gilbert added: "The real estate board members are patriotic men and are prepared to make sacrifices for the winning of the war, but they feel that, even if Mr. Gaudreau administers his office with the most even-handed justice, the number of petitions for rent revisions is going to be so great as to overwhelm him."

"We feel that the rents should have been frozen as of March, 1942, and I can justify that date. The OPA froze food prices as of March 1942."

Saying that "we expect to surrender while we are at war certain fundamental rights as property owners," Gilbert acknowledged that exorbitant rents should not be charged and added:

"But I don't believe that the war situation justifies the procedure outlined by the OPA regulations." Gilbert said that a landlord may not accept an increase, even if the tenant agrees, until the director approves, and "it will be months before he can make a decision."

U. S. Strengthens Military Accord With Free French

New Move Described as Having No Political Implications

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—The United States today strengthened its military ties with the Free French but made clear the action had no political implications.

The State department announced that a military and a naval representative had been assigned to consult in London with the Free French National committee headed by General Charles De Gaulle, "on all matters relating to the conduct of the war." They are Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of American naval forces of staff of Lieutenant General Dwight Eisenhower, commander in chief of American forces in Europe.

With referring to the controversy over diplomatic recognition of the Free French, the announcement and an accompanying memorandum emphasized that the purpose of the new assignments and the aim of American policy was to strengthen and facilitate military aid to the Free French.

As to the political status of the national committee, the memorandum handed to De Gaulle in London said the United States regarded De Gaulle's committee as "a symbol of the French people."

CIO and AFL Demand Wage Boost For 1,250,000 Aircraft Employees

LOS ANGELES, July 9 (AP)—The CIO and AFL presented joint demands for aircraft workers' wage increases today to a government sponsored labor-management conference—demands which representatives of both sides estimated would mean a boost of at least $125,000,000 annually on the Pacific coast alone.

No definite figures were available because military secrecy surrounds the total number employed in aircraft factories. Reputable sources agreed the total probably would be higher. A spokesman for Paul R. Porter, chief of the war production board's stabilization branch, said the discussions involve some 1,250,000 present or future employees in the industry in all parts of the country. The CIO demands that wage increases be made nationwide.

Nazis Advancing Upon Stalingrad In Volga Sector

Invaders Drive Menacing Wedge in Defenses of Russians

Soviets Launch Furious Counter Attacks in Several Places

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT
A deepening, menacing German wedge in the defense of South Russia lay within 235 miles of Stalingrad on the Volga last night, and the Nazi offensive appeared to have knocked out 100 miles of main line communications between the central and southern Red armies.

The midnight Russian communique disclosed the fighting had reached the area of Rossosh, 100 miles below the fierce battle area of Voronezh on the principal Moscow-Rostov railway.

This placed the Germans approximately 150 miles east of the old war theater of Kharkov and ninety miles northeast of Kupiansk, where the southern end of the current great offensive began.

Stalingrad Menaced
It represented, also, a massive rolling up of the flanks of the Russian armies which are defending the direct approaches to the Caucasus, and it was the most direct threat yet to Stalingrad, Key to the vital Volga navigation system from the Caspian gulf and East Caucasus oil fields.

The Germans may now attempt to push spearheads along the wide curve of the Don to Stalingrad. Rossosh is on a branch of the Don about twenty miles from its confluence with the main stream.

In disclosing this reverse the Russians said they still were resisting on the Don waterline west of Voronezh. In the circumstances, however, this had come almost a rear-guard defense.

Moreover, the gravity of the general Russian position was only slightly alleviated by the reported retreat of a powerful German naval squadron from the Red army's Arctic life line.

Even at Voronezh, the German advance guard was astraddle the Don and looked in battle with defenders holding the ravine-cut cliffs on the east bank, though more than 800 German tanks had been stalled for the time being on the west side of the water line.

Counter Attacks Continue
Russian counter-attacks persisted, but they appeared to be of a local character.

Moscow's second-day account of the toppling of the super-battle-ship Tirpitz in the latest and greatest battle on the Allied convoy route to Мурманск and Archangel said that the Tirpitz had limped back to a western Norwegian fjord for repairs which might consume several months.

Quasi-official Soviet accounts also said this coup by a single Soviet submarine had enabled a big United States-British convoy to reach a Soviet port intact.

For the time being other Allied announcements were withheld.

The Germans, who have claimed the sinking of thirty-two out of thirty-eight of the convoy's ships, including destruction of a United States cruiser, said flatly that the Tirpitz had not even been attacked.

The German story of the struggle in Southern Russia again was in very general terms: mainly a claim to have shaken the Russian defenses along more than 300 miles of front. Rossosh is 100 miles southwest of Voronezh and 150 miles directly east of the great steel city of Kharkov. On a tributary close to the Don, Rossosh is ninety miles northeast of Kupiansk—the first major point captured in this major German offensive of the year. It lies only 235 miles from Stalingrad.

Farmers Facing Heavy Loss in Tomato Fields

Shortage of Labor Becomes Serious on Eastern Shore

CAMBRIDGE, Md., July 9 (AP)—Eastern Shore farmers, faced with heavy losses if sufficient labor is not available to harvest the greatest tomato crop in Maryland history, have resorted to importing migrants from Florida.

Irwin J. Fosythe, United States employment service field supervisor, said more than 200 itinerant workers would be brought to Dorchester county farms from West Palm Beach, Fla., in an effort to ease the labor crisis approaching with the time for picking tomatoes.

Farmers have agreed to supply the trucks, which will leave Monday to transport these persons stranded because of gasoline and the shortages.

Dorchester county commissioners have appropriated funds for the trip.

If the labor situation becomes more acute as the tomato season grows closer, Fosythe said, more trips will be made to Florida.

He estimated that 3,300 workers were needed in Dorchester and Caroline counties to pick the tomatoes and some already are being brought in by canneries both to pick and can.

Fosythe said the Eastern Shore farmers had harvested ninety per cent of their big bean crop without loss, mainly because of the assistance of labor in Wicomico, Somerset and Worcester counties and speedy manipulation of 100-man crews by the employment service.

Nazis Advancing

miles northwest of Stalingrad, on the broad banks of the Volga commanding the northern approaches to the oil bearing caucuses, which apparently is the German goal.

(Russian sources in London conceded the latest German advance was of the greatest importance.)

Long German Advance
Rostov is a manufacturing town about twenty miles from the middle Don area. The 80-mile German advance pushed the Nazi right wing far forward while the Russians threw in hundreds of thousands of soldiers in an effort to hold the Nazi center and left along the line of the upper Don farther north.

By the advance, the Germans went a long way toward establishing a new line extending northward from the Rostov area, the point of their deepest penetration last year, 300 miles northeast to Voronezh.

Battle Near Crisis
The critical nature of the fighting in the Rostov area was pointed up by the fact that the town lies on the Moscow-Voronezh-Rostov railway, the last remaining north-south link over which supplies are funneled to the desperately pressed armies of Marshal Semyon Timoshenko.

The assertion that the fighting was "in the area of the town" suggested that the railway might either be cut or at least gravely threatened over a 100-mile length. Already, if not cut, the rail link probably was under attack of dive-bombers or long range artillery.

Three ships totaling 22,000 tons, a tanker and two transports, were declared sunk in the Baltic Sea. Soviet submarines have been active in that "German lake" for nearly two weeks, disrupting German transport lines to their siege lines before Leningrad and the north.

They also have interrupted the iron ore and timber traffic with Sweden. Telling of the great battle on the upper Don, the communists said:

Fierce Battles Continue
"On one of the sectors west of Voronezh, fierce battles are continuing."

The communists said "no material changes took place on other sectors."

A huge mass of 800 German tanks was reported stalled on the west bank of the upper Don and Timoshenko was reported counter-attacking boldly in an attempt to crush the enemy before he could cross the vital waterway in force.

The outnumbered and outgunned Russians said the situation was serious along the violently erupting 120-mile southern front where German advance guards were struggling mightily to breach the Red army defenses.

The shallow, sluggish upper Don which is 500 to 700 feet wide at the point of battle west of Voronezh offered only a slight barrier to the German juggernaut, but the determined Red army was installed in the ravine-cut hills above the east bank and putting up fierce resistance.

The main German armored and mechanized forces now have been held five days west of the Don in their supreme effort of this year to thrust a salient across the waterway and cut railway and highway communications between Moscow and the south.

The Moscow radio said local Soviet counter-attacks were being struck out near the Moscow-Rostov line through which supplies to the southern armies pass. One of these attacks northwest of Voronezh was said to have routed the Germans from several villages.

Small groups of Nazis forced river crossings and maintained precarious footholds on the east bank in the face of withering Russian fire, but most of the storm units were declared wiped out.

Heavy artillery thundered in duels between opposing batteries. The Women Load and Fire Big Guns As Part of Their Job for Army

By RUTH COWAN

ABERDEEN, Md., July 9 (AP)—Women are loading and firing guns—not just rifles and machine guns—but big anti-aircraft guns, and powerful howitzers for the army.

High ranking army officers, beaming with pride at feminine skill, left the secret out today on an inspection tour of the Aberdeen proving ground where in the last ninety days 300 women have been employed, many replacing men, to test guns, ammunition and tanks for Uncle Sam.

And grandmothers, secretaries, farm girls, former waitresses, housewives who never worked before, are doing mechanical jobs that just a little while ago were thought "impossible" for them.

More Power to Red-Head

Take for instance, Mickey Lipfert of Oswego, N. Y., 18 and red-headed, with a green bow in her hair, who learned in one day (army officers said that it usually takes man a week) to handle a 15-ton crane in a machine shop.

With an "oh, I love it!" she gave a demonstration. She brought the huge crane down the room, its big clanging a warning, into position to reach down with the big hook and move a heavy gun part.

There were women all over the place. A big movable crane lumbered by a girl in slacks at the wheel. A large truck "honk-honked" to get by—a woman driver. A workman was doing an adjusting job on a big tank—a woman.

Two 18-year-old girls, not long out of high school, made up with three men with gun crew testing ammunition for a 75 mm gun. Ultimately the army hopes to do this with crews of four girls and one man.

Girl Fires Shell

Frances Cuck, a month ago a New York secretary, lifted the live shell and inserted it. Then Doris Peterson of Wildwood, N. J., stepped back the correct distance got the command, and pulled the trigger.

Over in a section where large anti-aircraft guns are tried out are two young women, Mrs. Theima Vestal of Kenton, O., wife of Lieut. M. J. Vestal and Mrs. Mary Owens of Rising Run, Md., whose husbands is a private. They are foremen of gun crews of three women.

They have another Ohio girl with them, Mrs. Mildred Sarvino of Columbus.

Women weigh the powder and load the shells. Others work in the laboratories, some on very advanced ballistics problems.

The girls are civilian employees. They are paid the wages that would be paid a man on the job. Army officers declared that the women have not had an accident. In all there are 1,000 women, counting clerical help.

Tax on Freight And Express Is Called Unfair

Opposed by Leon Henderson and Representative of Treasury

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson and the treasury joined today in opposing a five per cent tax on freight and express charges on the theory that it might disrupt the entire price control machinery.

Henderson wrote a letter to Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House Ways and Means committee saying that the levy, proposed as part of the New tax bill, would be "most undesirable" at this time.

Randolph Paul, tax adviser to Secretary Morgenthau, also submitted a memorandum to the committee outlining objections to the proposed tax.

He said it would create "a great deal of confusion in industry and trade and increase the problems of the Office of Price Administration, and would discriminate between businesses which hire carriers and those which used their own transportation system."

In the House, Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the Appropriations committee complained that "persistent efforts are being made" to have the Ways and Means committee reverse its decision not to consider a sales tax.

He said the questionnaire on the subject circulated among House members last night by Rep. Robertson (D-Va) was "intended to develop sentiment to be used as pressure" for such a tax when the tax bill is brought before the House probably next week.

Costs Money Now To Enter Prison
BOISE, Idaho, July 9 (AP)—It costs money now to get into the state prison.

Warden C. Van Clark said visitors were being charged a 28-cent admission fee, which includes a three-cent federal tax.

The remainder, amounting to about $12 monthly, is used to pay prison entertainment expenses and library maintenance.

stout Russian defenses were declared to be exacting of the Germans thousands of men and scores of tanks.

Violent battles were fought to the west of Voronezh, which is 120 miles east of Kursk whence Marshal Fedor von Bock set his mechanized steamroller in bloody movement nearly two weeks ago.

The Russian air force struck mightily at the German concentration on the Don, wrecking sixty tanks while Red tanks, motorized infantry and automatic gunners methodically mopped up isolated enemy groups which had crossed the caviar-producing river, Russia's third largest.

The German high command said the Russian defenses had been breached over a breadth of 330 miles and that the Russians were in disorderly retreat. The German armies were declared in "full movement." A Russian offensive north of Orel, to relieve pressure in the south, was declared repelled after four days of fighting.

(The Nazis said officially 289 tanks had been destroyed, and DNB raised the figure to 400 for six days. Other Russian attacks on the Volkhov river front south of Leningrad were said to have been repulsed.)

The river Don—the great waterway which winds 1,325 miles through rich lands from Tulsa province to the Sea of Azov—was mentioned for the first time in frontline dispatches, which called the battle the supreme German offensive of 1942. The Nazis aimed at shattering the Russian armies for a drive south into the oil-rich Caucasus.

Swedish Steamer Sunk by Submarine
STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 9 (AP)—The Swedish steamer Margareta, 1,272 tons, of Stockholm, was torpedoed and sunk today by a submarine in Swedish territorial waters in the Arkösund, near the town of Norrköping.

Four men of the crew of eighteen on board were rescued. The others are missing.

The scene of the attack is about seventy-five miles southwest of Stockholm, on Sweden's west coast.

American College Graduate Sent to U. S. as Nazi Spy

Herbert Karl Friedrich Bahr Taken Off the Liner Drottningholm

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—A bold Nazi attempt to slip a spy into the United States on the steamship Drottningholm, diplomatic exchange vessel, was charged by the Justice department today with announcement of the arrest of Herbert Karl Friedrich Bahr, 29-year-old former American college student, on charges of espionage.

Bahr, educated in Buffalo, N. Y., schools and at Rensselaer Polytechnic institute, has been in Germany, the Federal Bureau of Investigation said, since 1938.

A statement from J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, quoted him as admitting that "he was enlisted in October of 1941 by the German Gestapo for the purpose of returning to the United States to secure and transmit to Germany information pertaining to the war effort of this country."

Formal Complaint Lodged
A complaint charging Bahr with conspiracy to violate federal espionage statutes and using a mutilated passport was filed by the FBI today after United States commissioner Joseph F. Holland at Newark, E. E. Conroy, assistant FBI director in charge of the Newark and New York offices, said Bahr would be arraigned tomorrow.

The nearly 1,000 passengers on the Drottningholm, which arrived at Jersey City, N. J., June 30, were detained several days for questioning.

Claims Citizenship
Disclosing that Bahr, who was among them, had been arrested, the FBI said he was born in Klossperfeld, Germany, Aug. 27, 1913, came to the United States with his family in 1926, and lived in Buffalo. His father was naturalized and he claims American citizenship.

Hoover's statement said the Gestapo taught Bahr in the art of spying, as well as writing with secret, invisible inks, and gave him various addresses in Spain, Switzerland and South America where he was to send the written results of his activities.

Bahr had $7,000 in United States currency. This, the FBI director said, was for transportation, the securing of military information, and "the loosening of tongues."

Contracts with all plants provide for boosts of five cents per hour at the end of each month until a minimum of seventy-five cents is reached three months after an unskilled worker is hired.

The bulk of the employment total is in the unskilled classification. Simultaneously with the wage demands, made by the CIO United Automobile Workers and the AFL International Association of Machinists, the CIO issued this statement:

Feel Urge of Spring
Dr. Wolfson concluded that the natural causes of northward migration thus must be the influence of lengthening days of spring, their extra sunlight serving to start the extra gland activity.

Apparently these changes take place only in migratory birds. Dr. Wolfson tried the experiment on non-migrating juncos without producing any flyaway tendencies, although their reproductive activity increased.

Still unsolved, says Dr. Wolfson, is how the birds know which direction to take and how far to go.

INTERPRETING THE WAR NEWS

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

German reports from the critical Don front in Russia have reverted from specific claims to sweeping generalizations, lending color to Red contentions that Hitler's mightiest offensive effort of the year has been slowed down if not halted within less than two weeks of its onset.

It is much too soon, however, to conclude that the crisis in the battle of the Don has been reached or passed, though Nazi difficulties must be increasing.

The length of front around the Nazi bulge to the Don from Kursk on the north to Kupiansk in the south is about 300 miles so far as it can be determined. The airline distance between Kursk and Kupiansk is about half that mileage.

The fighting front, then, has doubled in length, meaning both armies have had to draw heavily on reserves to man the additional mileage.

Nazi Position Uncertain
But for the fact that Russian armies of the center or Moscow area, above the Kursk-Voronezh railroad and German break-through point, are still to be reckoned with, Marshal Timoshenko's position would be much worse than that of his Nazi foes. He holds the exterior, long-way-round lines while the Germans hold the interior communications within the Kursk-Don-Kupiansk triangle.

Even so, armies of the size of those Hitler has thrown into the Don bulge require a tremendous daily flow of supplies and equipment. The military weakness of the sector through which the Germans are seeking to drive a wedge between Russian armies of the south and center is its lack of east-west railroads or good highways.

There are but two such rail lines, the Kursk-Voronezh road and the Kupiansk-Liski line which reaches the Don fifty miles south of Voronezh. There are not even any through highways on available Russian maps, and the farther east and south the Germans progress, the more difficult becomes the terrain.

Moscow announced evacuation of Staryi Oskol before Berlin could claim its capture by assault. Just how deep a Russian withdrawal was involved is not indicated. It seems probable, however, that in order both to shorten and strengthen his lines from the Don breach to Kupiansk and to take advantage of natural defense posi-

British Announce Seizing Mayotte
Take over French Island at Top of Mozambique Channel

LONDON, July 9 (AP)—The British today announced the capture of the French island of Mayotte, strategically situated at the top of Mozambique channel in which Japanese submarines recently have attacked at least nine allied and neutral ships.

The official war office report said the 140-square-mile island, with a population of less than 18,000, was occupied by British forces July 2 without resistance or casualties.

The island, which produces principally rum and perfume, is 200 miles west of Madagascar and about 300 miles east of Portuguese East Africa.

About seventy-five miles southeast of the old pirate haunt of Anjouan, Mayotte is the best situated of the Comoro archipelago for command of the Mozambique channel, on the allied supply route to India.

It is opposite the northern tip of Madagascar, which the British captured in May.

Japanese submarines have become increasingly active in the channel, recently sinking three merchantmen within twenty-four hours.

Dispatches from Lourenco Marques, Portuguese East Africa, last Tuesday reported that two ships, one Norwegian and one Swedish, were sunk in moambique channel and two others, believed to be British, were attacked with unknown results.

(The London report that three ships were sunk in twenty-four hours indicated one of the two vessels which were attacked at the same time the neutrals ships were sunk had gone down.)

During the first fifteen days of June five other allied ships were torpedoed in this area.

The Comoros-Mayotte, Anjouan and Grand Comore—have been attached to the Madagascar government under the Vichy regime.

Gas Rationing

H. A. Crouthamel, executive secretary of the Maryland Petroleum Dealers Association, also endorsed the new plan. "It should relieve the situation and be a great improvement," he said.

Explains New System
In one of several steps taken to expedite appeals for supplemental ration books, McCormick announced that workers in the state's defense plants and persons on military reservations will file their applications for supplemental allowances at their plants or their posts instead of with a price and rationing board.

McCormick said the OPA was setting up arrangements at defense plants and army camps to handle all appeals for more gasoline, forward them to one board regardless of the appellant's residence and distribute the proper supplemental ration books through the same single sources after decisions are reached.

Not only will the plan provide better service for applicants, McCormick said, but it will prevent congestion at the offices of local boards.

2 Crews Caught

not much over four feet thick at the point the men were caught.

"That makes it bad for the fellows back there, what with the fire and that low coal," one begrimed miner remarked as he waited his turn to be called to rescue duty.

The mine is about halfway up famed Scott's Run, off the right of the main highway and a short distance up a small valley.

The rescue crews decided that the missing miners actually were trapped somewhere under the state of Pennsylvania since the operation is close to the state line.

Check Is Difficult
Company men began a systematic check on the shift on duty but late in the evening said they had made little headway.

A big crowd, including in its number the wives and children of the trapped men, formed in the mud around the entry within a few minutes after word came out that "something is wrong" inside.

Like all mine families in time of disaster, most of them stood silently but listening eagerly for every scrap of news which came out. Most of them were grouped about the entry and the mine shop, or strung out along the track which leads to the tipples a half mile away.

The blast marked the third mine disaster in the state since May. An inquest into the May 12 blast at Osage was concluded yesterday with a coroner's jury holding that the cause of the deaths of fifty-six men was unknown.

On May 18, less than a week after the Osage blast, five men were killed in an explosion in the Hitchman Coal and Coke Company mine at Benwood near Wheeling.

O'Connor Announces As Was Expected

POLITICAL CIRCLES of Maryland were not by any means rocked to the bottom by the formal announcement by Governor Herbert R. O'Connor that he would be a candidate for renomination and reelection despite his party pledge indicating that a single term for the governor should be enough.

The decision had long been expected in view of a persistent and subtle build-up to that end. It comes, in fact, in logical sequence because O'Connor has been a professional office-holder almost all of his adult career, having gone into public office soon after being graduated from law college and having spent half of his life span in public service of one kind or another. It is a pretty well accepted political axiom that once a jobholder gets the office-holding itch it soon develops into a chronic disease.

The governor stated, in making his announcement, that he expected "to discuss straightforwardly and completely, before election, every major question which should be or could be raised in such a contest." In this promise he lost no time at the outset by pointing to several items he regarded as outstanding issues, and the fact is inescapable that he displayed considerable discrimination in dragging out those of which he might make the most capital and deferring a number in which the people are vitally interested.

Sufficient was outlined, however, to indicate, in accordance with expectations, that the governor as a candidate would exploit every possible opportunity to wave the American flag. Galen L. Tait, who may be a candidate on the opposing party ticket, anticipated this in a characteristic expression several days ago by terming the governor a "flagpole sifter" and asserting that if he could be picked loose from the American flag he would be "just another politician breaking a promise that he would not run for a second term as governor."

As the campaign runs along, however, the fact will be duly impressed that waving the flag is the common right and duty of every American citizen especially now in this time of war and that it is not the exclusive prerogative of any individual, office-holder or not.

But even so, the governor has displayed political astuteness by promising to furnish detailed explanation of state issues even though they are hand-picked for the nonce. This is for the reason that a lot of explanations will be needed to convince the voters that he should be kept in the executive chair for a continuance of many things demanding correction, not the least of which are the unwarranted state income tax and extravagance in the conduct of the state government, especially with regard to the swollen number of state jobholders. The right and justice of including minority representation on all war boards and agencies is another item over which many citizens of the state have long been critical.

But, now that the governor is in the ring, the next logical question is what his old opponent, Mayor Howard W. Jackson, is going to do. O'Connor issued his announcement in the absence of Jackson, who was in New York City attending a conference of mayors of the United States, but just before going there he told newspaper men he expected to announce his political plans Sunday. He gave no hint of his decision, but the Baltimore Evening Sun said it expected him to renounce a bid for the governorship on the ground that the war situation required him to retain his mayoralty post.

As for that we shall have to wait and see, for while the Sunpapers have a pretty fair record of hitting things on the head it sometimes misses, being as fallible as the rest of us. If Jackson conforms to that prediction the supposition will be engendered that there has been an understanding between these two political foes. But one versed in the political history of the state of the last decade or so may be excused if they regard such a thing as a bit out of line.

Some of the Good Old Days Are Returning

THOSE who persist in contending that the old days were better than the present apparently are going to have a chance to prove it. Events have been piling up indicating that customs long since abandoned are coming back.

A dispatch reveals that Northern New York farmers are considering a return to the old-fashioned harvesting bee to get their forage crops into the barns. Another dispatch discloses that hundreds of sewing circles are springing up in different parts of the state. All this is indicative of a trend that is taking place throughout the country.

According to the extension specialists at the New York State College of Home Economics, women who seldom have mended more than stockings or sewed on buttons now are serious about mending and darning.

In some towns, their report says, groups of women who have worked together on Red Cross sewing are now using an extra afternoon or evening to take care of the family mending. In some circles, one family's repair work may be done by all at one session, with another family's sewing being cared for at the next meeting.

In some respects, the events forced by the war may be a good thing for the people of America. It has been pointed out before that the civilian defense services were bringing people together from all classes, that they were acquainting neighbors with each other and giving a sense of community care to each householder.

In the country, there is not the same necessity for all these services. But farm families in some areas in America live more isolated lives than city people who never get to know their neighbors. The shortage of labor and of materials may force a spirit of co-operation on these isolated rural families. The effects of the war may bring into being a spirit of neighborliness forgotten since pioneer days.

Food, Money And Health

THE MUCH-MALIGNED VICTORY GARDENS, and those who have been planting and hoeing them, have at last come into their own and have received recognition for their economic and dietary values.

The back-yard gardener, it seems, is deserving of more than the expected pride of productiveness. His efforts may turn into a neat economic asset — if bugs and bad weather do not spoil his crops — and the Victory gardens may be responsible for building up a resistance to one of the most dreaded of diseases.

On the economic front the home gardener will be pleased to learn that the prices of major garden items quoted on the Chicago produce market to professional gardeners ranged up to double those of a year ago. Thus cabbage is up about sixty per cent, compared with a year ago; beets, twenty per cent; tomatoes, seventy per cent; turnips, twenty-five to fifty per cent, and spinach, 100 per cent. This should be soothing news indeed for strained muscles and tired backs.

A scientific meeting in Salt Lake City recently was told that cancer is mainly a matter of cellular malnutrition which is related in some way to the abandonment by many of the world's people of a diet processed mostly by nature, in favor of food processed mostly by man.

Such methods as picking green fruit and allowing it to ripen in shipment, one doctor noted, destroys many of the vital elements found in sun-ripened, nature-processed foods. The Victory gardener, who is able to pick peas or beans right from his patch and pop them into a pot, may, therefore, be helping the fight against cancer.

So, keep 'em hoeing, America. There are food, money and health in those back-yard vegetable patches.

Gosh, how time flies. Soon it will be the anniversary of the first time the Germans claimed to have "annihilated" the Russians. Up to now, however, the only thing the Nazis have succeeded in annihilating is the truth.

People who used to see two locomotives crash head on in movie thrillers, with sound effects by the piano, didn't realize they were witnessing the forerunner of the modern tank battle.

It has been demonstrated that the way in which to create a sugar surplus of sufficient proportions to tax the warehouses is to limit consumption to half a pound per week per capita.

Tenants who thought that under federal rent control they would receive monthly checks from their landlords will probably be disappointed.

The Old Folks Fool Us

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I've seen it happen many a time. Something saddening is taking place in a family—and half the energy in the home is spent in keeping the news from some old man or woman.

Somebody has lost all his money. Somebody has been arrested and may be sent to prison. Somebody is terribly ill and close to the door of death. Or somebody is dead and Grandmother or Grandfather mustn't be told about it just yet.

"It would be too great a shock," they whisper, "and you know Mother has a weak heart." Or they say, "He was Father's favorite grandson. Father couldn't stand it. He's had so much trouble in his life and this would be the last straw."

Well, the young folk don't know as much as they think they do. They are young, so they are sure they are strong. They live with their elders but they don't know them very well. They think the old men and women are just hanging on by a thread, just barely clinging to life. And they DON'T know the iron resolution that is in many an old heart—the philosophy, the understanding of the materials of living. The Old Folks fool them.

I've seen old men and women take blows that knock over the proud young men and women and reduce them to helpless weakness. I've seen an old woman hear of the death of a beloved child with only a faint quiver of her mouth—and then I've seen her set her chin and go to work. I've seen an old man take a bitter pill from life with just a sad shake of his head. They've lived long enough to know that tears do not help, that grief must be accepted, that men and women must go their ways without cringing or whining; they have learned to be strong and they want no protection from the youngsters. They fool you with their wisdom and their strength and make you feel like a fearful child who has lost his way and needs the guidance of the Old Folks who know the path through life.

The Old Folks fool us and I'm glad they do. They've learned how to Stick It Out—and they could give the rest of us lessons in living.

Law for Freezing Wages and Prices Is Reported Due

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The press has reported learning "on good authority" that the administration is considering legislation to freeze the wage-price economic level hard.

The authority was "very" good. There is none better. The notion can be traced back to Mr. Roosevelt himself.

His congressional leaders report him worried. He took the matter up with the big four of the House and Senate at their last weekly private meeting at the White House, but only in a general way along the same lines he previously had suggested to them.

They did not understand that he had anything immediate in mind, but that he rather generally shares the opinion which his price fixer Leon Henderson suggested to a senator recently:

"Something will have to be done."

Meanwhile, wages around Congress are popularizing the quip that the immediate problem is to bring the "all-in economy up to the all-out war effort."

While the conversationalists are using "all-in" only facetiously, the problem is growing fast, against only such verbal brakes as the president and Henderson are using.

Blocks in Majority

Congress is inflationary-minded. The farm bloc wants higher prices, not necessarily what they consider inflationary prices, but higher than presently allowed. Labor as always, wants wage increases.

Together they represent majority opinion in the legislature. They were the ones who turned down all strong freezing devices in the present price-wage law and limited Henderson's devices.

But you cannot blame it all on Congress. The farm bloc justifies itself, for instance, by rightly claiming that the administration policy on labor and wages has also been inflationary.

Furthermore behind these generalizations, the situation is crisscrossed with innumerable political self-interests. Current White House worry, for instance, is deepened by congressional failure to levy all taxes Mr. Morgenthau wants and by obstreperous antics of the farm bloc on the feed-selling program.

Congressional antagonism to Henderson likewise lies in his failure to give them patronage in his vast organization.

Above all, everyone is conscious and super-sensitive of the coming congressional elections. It may be some time before anything effective is done.

Bankers Predominate

Donald Nelson's latest reorganization of his successful war production board did not materially touch one point of inner-criticism—the preponderance of investment bankers and financial business men in his organization.

His personnel assistant happens to be Sidney Weinberg, of Goldman-Sachs, who naturally happens to know practically everyone in Wall Street or in the finance end of corporations, rather than the production end.

The result is one official was able to number on his fingers sixteen such men in front WPB positions, the most prominent being:

Cliff Hill, Guaranty Trust Company; Ed. Locke, Chase National Bank; Arthur Bunker, Lehman Brothers; James S. Knowlson, president, Stewart-Warner; Arthur Newhall, vice president Talon, Inc., and Lessing J. Rosenwald, Rosenwald Foundation.

Wall Street business being what it is, Mr. Weinberg seems to be running a $1 a year unemployment relief program for investment bankers in WPB.

Rubber Scrap Fifty-fifty

The idea that the rubber scrap campaign is somewhat political and has produced little real rubber of use for tires is thoroughly disproved by the detailed results.

It is true that old tires and tubes are about the only scrap articles containing sufficient rubber for use in re-capping or making new ones.

HEADS EUROPE FLIERS

Maj. Gen. Spaatz

Head of the United States Army air forces in the European theatre of war is Maj. Gen. Carl Spaatz 51, World War flier. His appointment was announced in Washington as he conferred D. F. C.'s on three American airmen in London, who took part in the Independence day bombing of Holland. Spaatz has been in England for some time now preparing the groundwork for American bombing of Germany.

Jap Broadcast about Pearl Harbor Is Viewed as Effort To Get Information

Some raincoats, shoes and garden hose are helpful.

But most of the other articles contain so little rubber and so much foreign substance, their practical value must fall in other less critical lines.

The evidence shows, however, more than half the scrap rubber acquired comes within the suitable category. From July 1 through the seventh, according to the Petroleum War Industry Council, 534 carloads of casings and 414 carloads of mixed rubber were shipped out of the bulk storage points to the reclaimers.

Two Factors

Extraordinary success of the campaign out West (short of the Pacific Coast) is attributed by authorities to two factors—

Public spirited enthusiasm generally runs stronger in those communities than along the more densely populated coast; also reclaiming by junk dealers was more intensive in populous centers before the campaign started. High shipping costs worked against depletion of western stocks.

Embarrassing

There was an embarrassing moment on the radio the other evening for one of the armed forces in the New York area. During a question and answer program, the military men were given three of Mr. Roosevelt's proposed freedoms for which they are fighting and asked to state the fourth. No one knew.

Apparently some educational propaganda work is needed.

Wage Stability An Essential

From the Industrial News Review

In the interest of the worker himself, requests for wage increases should be scrutinized with extreme care at this time by the authorities—and should not be allowed except in those isolated instances where some group's wage levels are obviously out of line with the levels of other groups and correction is necessary.

It is the government's policy to fix and freeze prices. That can be done successfully only if the items of cost entering into industrial overhead are likewise fixed and frozen. In most industries, the cost of labor is among the principal items of overhead. Thus if widespread wage increases are granted, it will be necessary to permit widespread price increases—and then we'll again be on the road to inflation.

A worker's income can only be accurately evaluated in terms of "real wages"—which simply means that his pay check must be considered in the light of the commodities and services it will buy. If a man, for instance, gets a ten per cent wage boost and his cost of living then advances fifteen per cent, he is worse off than before, not better off. And past economic history definitely proves that during inflationary periods the cost of living always rises faster than wages.

Wage stability, to sum up, is essential to price stability. And we can't maintain price ceilings without wage ceilings, either voluntary or enforced.

Morning Motto

JUST A SUGGESTION

PLEASE SIR COULD WE BORROW CASPER MILQUETOAST FOR THE DURATION? WE WANT TO RUN HIM FOR CONGRESS TO PUT SOME BACK BONE IN OUR GUTS INTO THAT BUNCH DOWN THERE — SORT OF RAISE THE STANDARD OF COURAGE AS IT WERE.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 9. — The Japanese are fishing for information about what happened at Pearl Harbor.

The Tokyo broadcast which revises upward the Japanese claims unquestionably has a certain significance at this time. The official reason for revising the subject of American losses in the December 7 attack at Pearl Harbor is that attacks were made to those Japanese who distinguished themselves in the action. But it has caused considerable conjecture here. For it is obvious that if the Japanese learned any more than they knew last December, they would not have hesitated to announce it closer to the event.

It is possible, of course, that the Japanese have not been sure of any of their information and are trying to entice the American authorities into divulging more facts. For, after all, there is no substantial morale value at this late date either to the Japanese people, on the one hand, or adversely to the American people on the other, in claiming more ships than were believed to have been lost last December.

Fleet Disposition Worries

The real reason for the Japanese strategy in making higher claims now may be related to their own lack of authentic data as to what is happening to our battleships. Not so many days ago it became known in a general way, through official dispatches concerning the action of the United States Senate on appropriation bills, that battleship construction was being postponed. The Japanese must be wondering whether the basis for this change is the one given out—needs of priorities—or whether it is that the American battleship fleet may shortly be or has already been reinforced.

The one thing that grows into more than a suspicion is that the Japanese are really in the dark as to the number and location of our battleships and that they do not know when the damaged ships may reappear in the American fleet.

Whether the ships damaged at Pearl Harbor will be in commission sooner than anybody anticipated or whether they have been crossed off as obsolete or whether they have been subjected to a complete rebuilding process is not being disclosed here by anybody. It is a tightly kept secret and properly so because it is of the utmost importance to Japanese strategy to know the potential strength and disposition of the American battle fleet for future planning.

There is reason to believe that the American navy's policy of concealment about our aircraft carrier losses at the Battle of the Coral Sea until after the Battle of Midway was a factor in our successful operations in the latter instance. The Japanese did not know the size of the forces that were available to meet them.

Since the Battle of Midway there is reason to believe that the Japanese naval men have become somewhat cautious and conservative. They have been kept guessing as to our Pacific fleet and they would like very much to know whether in the next few months some of those battleships allegedly sunk in Pearl Harbor may reappear as did the destroyer Shaw—reported sunk but now in commission.

Only Three Admitted

The Japanese claim they sank five of our battleships and damaged four others—a total of nine. Secretary Knox on December 15 announced that the battleship Arizona and the old target battleship Utah had been sunk and that one other—the Oklahoma—had been capsized. It never has been disclosed what other battleships were damaged or whether any serious damage was done to any. President Roosevelt on February 23 last said that only three warships had been permanently put out of commission. Nothing has been said since that date.

Now the Japanese would like to know what's happening to the other six battleships—that is, those besides the Arizona, Utah and Oklahoma—because in the Pacific what happens to six capital ships, whether they will be back in the fray soon or a year from now, may make a considerable difference.

Steel Needed

The Japanese doubtless have some battleships under construction and need steel very acutely. If they could be certain that while we are deferring construction here on new battleships, there is no chance of restoring the other six, they too might give up battleship construction for a while. Or it may mean the opposite—they may be convinced that this is the time to accelerate construction.

Anyway, despite the criticism that has been visited on the navy for making no further statements about the battleships damaged at Pearl Harbor, the policy of secrecy would seem now to be justified—at least it has aroused the Japanese to the point of making broadcasts in the hope of eliciting denials and further information.

Smearing the Public

From the Cincinnati Times-Star

Mayor La Guardia characterizes as fifth columnist all those who object to his campaign to have men deferred from selective service join the New York City Patrol Corps, or be reported to their draft boards. We happen to object to it.

One reason why Mayor La Guardia was removed as head of the Office of Civilian Defense was that he had the habit of going off half-cooked. He certainly has done so in this case. If he keeps at it long enough, he will be the one encouraging dunks rather than his critics.

We would be the last to argue that those who remain at home should have nothing to do with the war effort. But threats and imprecations are hardly the way to go about convincing people. Of course, there is nothing in the selective service act which gives Mayor La Guardia the right to do what he is doing. Furthermore, even if uninterested parties are reported to the draft boards, they will hardly be reclassified and sent to the army.

Mayor La Guardia is bluffing, but it is not a pleasant thing. It is just an extension to the innocent citizenry of the smear campaign which has become so popular a weapon with some people in this country. Joining a civilian defense organization is a patriotic act. But it is not the American method to force patriotism upon the people under threat of dire consequences, no matter how empty that threat may be.

No Doubts Held On War Situation Reports by China

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

When Chinese Generalissimo Chiang-Kai-shek's Chungking government makes an announcement concerning the progress of its country's war with the Japs, it's accepted in Washington and doubtless at the rest of the United Nations capitals without a fraction of one per cent of its accuracy.

This isn't true. Chiang Kai-shek's reports from others of the pending conflict's various fields of activity.

The British, telling of developments in North Africa, always emphasize whatever gains they've made so vehemently that they're a bit suspected of exaggerating. If they have to admit a reverse, they qualify it almost unbelievably. The Russians, belatedly conceding the loss of some such stronghold as Sevastopol, never fail to remark that, "Oh, well, it was left in ruins," and that the enemy's sacrifices were literally appalling.

The Germans do the same thing. Their stories are regarded with a barrel of salt each, anyway.

Italy isn't often heard from, hopefully of contrivance.

Coral Sea and Midway

As between the United States and Japan there's room for skepticism. Military and navy men surely know exactly which outfit had a deal the better of the scraps in the Coral Sea and at Midway. The public, though, can't but wonder, if the Japs' defeats in those engagements were as overwhelming as the American press has represented 'em. We weren't LICKED, it's true, but were the results greatly better than a tie each?—so far as actual fighting was concerned. If we WON clean-cut, why didn't we utterly exterminate the opposition?

And the Aleutians? It's all right to say that the Japs' diggings in there were facilitated by Aleutian weather, but why was it any worse weather for us than for the Nippon aggregation? All this isn't to imply that the United Nations aren't winning in general, but press agency creates considerable uncertainty as to current details.

The Chinese, however, haven't any press agency.

What they accomplish or what happens to 'em they TELL.

Thumpings Are Admitted

If they say there's some spot where they've been thumped, they proclaim it.

If they say they've registered a wallop against the Mikado, he bets a safe one.

It's a queer country.

Being so close together as they are, and both Mongolians, why aren't the Chinese and Japs brethren? But they're not. Far from it.

In the old days of the Boxer Rebellion, the Japs were ardently pro-Caucasian. Today we and the Chinese are anti-Jap and then some.

When we barred Oriental immigration, we classed 'em together. I'll bet the Chinese could get in now. If they weren't too busy to attend to it. But the Japs? They're saboteurs—cuss 'em!

I've lived among both of 'em.

Generalizing, I've liked the Chinese best.

Yet, as individuals, I've had Jap friends who were as close to me as any Occidental. I'd have hated to lose one of 'em as much as I would have a Briton. They're just as civilized as we are.

That Military Class

The dope is that we don't need to civilize the bulk of Japan.

We need to civilize its MILITARY CLASS. China doesn't need any de-militarization. It's GOT it. Japan's just ONE GROUP. That disposed of, it's okay.

Seemingly nobody's left out of consideration but the Germans.

And yet, the Germans, as transplanted in this country in past years, have been as respectable local and world citizens as anybody.

How about 'em, as distinguished between assimilated Americans et cetera?

I can't imagine 'em as a different race. Are they?

Well, Adolf Hitler isn't a German, anyway. He's an Austrian.

Nevertheless, Germany fell for him. He's Germany's responsibility.

Obviously nationalities and races don't signify any more. It's a mere issue of human beings.

Whence Do They Come? Why Do They Go? Islands' Histories Are Series of Up's and Down's

Disappearing islands are scattered over all the world

By HENRY C. NICHOLAS
Central Press Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 9. —The Mag-not Line of Japan is a group of more than 2,500 small islands, dotting the Pacific ocean about half way between Asia and Australia.
They include the Marianas, Caroline and Marshall Islands, and stretch
1,300 miles north and south and
3,000 miles east and west.

A ship that passes through this region is under almost constant observation from these islands. It is these islands, where the native houses are built on stilts, and the waters are infested with man-eating sharks and even more dangerous coral reefs, around which the entire war strategy of Japan has been built.

Defense Line in Depth

Our military authorities recognize that if these islands can be conquered then the defeat of Japan itself will be a simple task.
But to conquer these islands will be a tremendous undertaking. Ever since they were placed under the mandate of Japan by the League of Nations, at the end of the first World War, that nation has been secretly turning them into a swarm of airplane and naval bases, in anticipation of the day when it felt prepared to attack the United States. Today they form the greatest depts of defense of any military line on earth.

No map of these islands is accurate. Where one island is shown on a map, there may be, in fact, more than 200 islands. And where an island is shown there may be no island at all. For this section of the South Pacific is the home of the disappearing island. Here islands appear and disappear with such frequency that any chart a few years old is likely to be unreliable.
Perhaps the most unique of all islands is Falcon Island in the South Pacific. This island has appeared and disappeared four times in the last century. Each time it has shown itself above the sea it has been claimed as a part of his possessions by the native king of the nearby island of Tonga. In this instance we know the reason of the strange action of this geographical curiosity. It is built up by the ashes of volcanic eruption and then destroyed by wind, rain and ocean currents.

It Was There

But there are other instances of disappearing islands that still remain a baffling mystery. There is the famous Expedition Island, located about 22 miles off the northwest coast of Australia. This island was well known, had been visited many times, and appeared on the nautical maps of that region. It was thirteen miles long, two miles wide, and was rich in tropical foliage. In the spring of 1849, a group of Dutch scientists lived there for several weeks, gathering rare botanical specimens and many sets of bird eggs. Their report is the last record the world possesses of the existence of Expedition Island.

Shortly after the return of these Dutch scientists to Australia the island mysteriously disappeared.
The first officer of an Australian ship cruising in the waters was amazed to find no sign of Expedition Island. He called the captain and together they checked the nautical maps and the position of the ship. There was no doubt about it.
The island had disappeared and they sailed over the spot where it had been located. No evidence of any volcanic eruption or earthquake had been detected on the mainland of Australia and the disappearance of Expedition Island still remains a baffling mystery.

From Nowhere

One of these islands which play hide and seek with mariners may actually play a part in the present World War. Some years ago the captain of a Russian steamer in the Caspian sea saw an island which appeared on no nautical map. Only a few weeks before, he had passed that spot and he knew there was no island there then. It had risen up out of the water between his two trips. He notified the Soviet government and they took possession of the island. It is said to have since been heavily fortified and will probably see action should the German Army attempt to invade the Caucasus.

Norway had a puzzling experience with an island in the South Atlantic which was continually appearing and disappearing. It was discovered in 1739, claimed by Norway and given the name of Bouvet Island. But when Captain Cook, the famous English explorer, attempted to find it, it had disappeared. It was then removed from the nautical maps. Nearly a hundred years later it was visited by a whaling vessel of Norwegian registry.
But then it disappeared again and has never been reported as being seen since.

Our country has had a somewhat similar experience. In 1860, the United States frigate Levant was wrecked on an island in the Pacific. The Levant was the ship upon which Edward Everett Hale placed be found in the Gulf of Mexico, about 14 miles off Biloxi, Miss. It is a thin iron pipe, rising about five feet above the surface of the water, which serves as a drinking fountain.

Out of this pipe flows a constant stream of cool and clear artesian well water. At this spot once stood an island, known as the Isle of Caprice, which mysteriously disappeared some years ago.

The most famous of all islands which have vanished is the mythi-cal island of Atlantis. According to ancient legend, Atlantis was a vast island of almost continental size located in the middle of the Atlantic ocean. Its people were believed to be peaceful, happy and prosperous. No other country has ever exerted such an appeal to the people of ancient and modern times.

Even today, this "Principality of Atlantis" has a monarch, a flag, postage stamps and currency. This is the result of the organization 50 years ago of a society in Denmark to perpetuate the memory of this fabulous land. Soon after it was organized it had more than 25,000 members, including prominent Danish scholars, scientists and philosophers. A large volume telling the story of Atlantis was published under the title, "The Lost Continent."

New War Songs Recall Favorite Of Civil War Days, Still Popular

Benjamin R. Hanby

By LAURA FENNER
Central Press Correspondent

WESTERVILLE, O., July 9 — While every war has been the inspiration of song writers, no other war has produced such great numbers of songs as the present conflict.

Many of them reach the top for a few weeks or months, only to be replaced by new ones coming off the presses and out over the radio.

But there was no such fly-by-night popularity for a song favorite of Civil war days and through all the years intervening, so beloved that several anniversaries directly connected with the song and its composer, Benjamin R. Hanby, are being commemorated.

"Darling Nellie Gray" was published June 17, 1865, five years before the Civil war. But its theme, that of a dying fugitive slave whose last thoughts were of his lost sweetheart, made it a very popular song in the army camps.

The song is, in reality, a true story, which was enacted in real life, in 1842, 100 years ago.

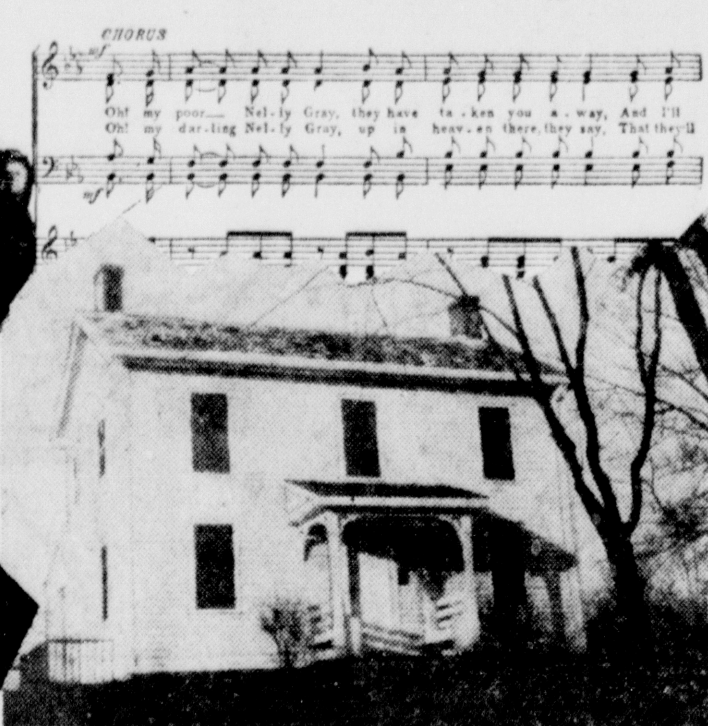

In the village of Rushville, O., lived the Rev. William Hanby. He was an ardent abolitionist and many slaves found temporary refuge in his home as they fled toward Canada and freedom.

One night an escaping slave, Joseph Selby, found his way to the Hanby home, ill from exposure and lack of food. He died that night, but not until he had told his story.

His sweetheart, Nellie Gray, had been sold and taken from Kentucky to Georgia. Powerless to do anything about it, Selby reached to his master, hoping to escape Canada and there earn enough money to buy his Nellie Gray.

The grave of Joseph Selby may be seen today in the Rushville cemetery, where a gravestone identifies it.

Benjamin Hanby was a lad of nine at the time of Selby's death,

Hanby House museum, Westerville, O., where "Darling Nellie Gray" was written but the story so impressed him that it inspired his immortal song, "Darling Nellie Gray," written when he was 23 years old.

The song was written in the little house facing the Otterbein college campus at Westerville, to which place the Hanby family moved from Rushville.

The house stands today, a state memorial museum to the memory of Benjamin Hanby as well as to his father, Bishop William Hanby, one of the founders of Otterbein college ninety years ago. The desk on which the historic song was written is in the historic home, together with other furniture and documents relative to the Hanby family.

Benjamin Hanby, a graduate of Otterbein, studied for the ministry, but after a few years he went to Chicago where he became an associate of Root and Cady, music publishers.

He collaborated with Root on two song books, "Forest Choir" and "Chapel Gems," and he published about seventy of his own compositions. One very popular Christmas song even to this day, "Up on the House Top," is among Hanby's compositions.

Benjamin R. Hanby died, March 16, 1867, at the age of 33. His remains lie in the Westerville cemetery, and on the gravestone is the inscription, "Over the Silent Sea," the title of one of his songs.

The various anniversaries relative to Benjamin Hanby were commemorated in a joint celebration by Otterbein college recently, in connection with graduation activities.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick Heads C. T. U. Nominating Group

Officers of Christian Temperance Union Will Be Chosen in September

Mrs. James Kirkpatrick, Cumberland, was appointed chairman of the nominating committee for the Allegany County Christian Temperance Union, by Mrs. John S. Cook, county president, at the Union Institute held in Trinity Methodist church, Piedmont, Wednesday.

Other members of the committee are Mrs. Edward Grim, Frostburg; and Mrs. Robert Derham, Westernport. The officers will be elected at the convention to be held here in September.

The tenth or the seventeenth were chosen as the tentative dates for the convention and Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Frank Dayton, Westernport; Mrs. A. E. Keeseker, Cumberland; Mrs. Charles Montgomery, Cumberland; and Mrs. E. W. Yates, Cumberland; will be in charge of arrangements.

To Award Medal

The program will include a "Junior Age Speech Contest" with the award being the Allegany County C. T. U. medal. Any junior interested in entering the contest may contact Mrs. Cook, Bowling Green; or Mrs. Frank Dayton, Westernport.

Miss Irene Johnson, Westernport, will repeat the resume of the history of the American flag, which she presented at the institute Wednesday.

A committee composed of Miss Irene Johnson, Westernport; Mrs. Keeseker, Cumberland; and Mrs. W. F. Taylor, Keyser, was appointed to send letters to the Maryland and West Virginia United States Senators urging them to support the passage of the bill now in Congress to keep liquor out of army camps.

Letters to the Piedmont Herald and the Keyser Mineral County News, requesting that liquor advertisements not be published in their papers were also composed. Both actions were taken following a discussion on "How the Department Can Help Defend Our Defenders," which was led by Mrs. S. R. Neel, Cumberland.

Speaking on "The Perilous Condition of Our Country," the Rev. James L. Robertson, pastor of the host church, divided his subject into four headings, social, educational, information and redemptive. The fall of France he considered due to the special conditions and warned that it can happen here. He urged the continual education of the children on the harm of alcohol to the body and that the information be kept before them continually. In closing he reminded his audience of the Gospel of Christ forgiving the sinner.

An original reading, "What God Means To Me," was given by Mr. John Grindle; William Rogers, Westernport, played a cornet solo; Anthony Dayton, Piedmont, sang "Prayer" and the Trinity Junior choir sang an anthem. The closing prayer was led by the Rev. J. M. Vining, of the Piedmont Presbyterian church.

Attending from Cumberland were Mrs. John S. Cook, county president; Mrs. Wesley C. Light, president of the Cumberland union; Mrs. Elizabeth Zilch, Mrs. Jessie T. Belle Cole, Mrs. S. R. Neel, Mrs. A. E. Keeseker, Mrs. D. Huffman and Mrs. R. H. Beach.

Shreddies
SHREDDED WHOLE WHEAT
Flavored with Malt, Sugar and Salt... Calcium and Sodium Phosphates added

...that's what 4 out of 5 have already said!

It's happened! A brilliant new flavored whole wheat cereal has come from the original Shredded Wheat bakeries at Niagara Falls.

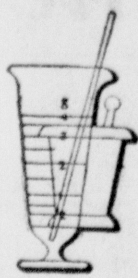

Shreddies are a grand, handy spoon-size. Tender and crunchy at the same time. And they boast whole wheat's natural goodness flavor-mellowed by an exclusive Nabisco process.

All this, and whole wheat's nourishment, too. The whole grain, with its famous complement of food essentials. In actual tests among people like yourself, 4 out of 5 liked Shreddies. And so, say we, will you. Your food dealer has them; look for the famous red Nabisco seal on the package. National Biscuit Company.

Doctor Declares Recreation Helps Morale during Strain of Wartime

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The strain of living in wartime makes recreation in some form more than ever a necessity. The Puritan tradition which disapproved of idleness or wasting time has gone the way of most Puritan traditions. Psychiatrists have long known that recreation of some kind is an imperative part of the treatment not only of mental patients, but indeed a necessity for the balance of any sane man.

Hobbies of Psychiatrists

I am therefore interested in a bulletin from the Menninger Clinic of Topeka with various chapters written by psychiatrists in which they describe their own hobbies and recreations. One enthuses about horticulture, another about stamp collecting, another about classical music, another about dancing, another about chess, others about maskmaking, poetry, photography, bird study, etc.

The contract bridge advocate points out that there are 625,013, 559,600 possible bridge hands that any one person might have dealt to him and even if a person should live a lifetime of bridge playing and hold the same hand twice, the other hands would be different and anyway he wouldn't remember the first time, so in his opinion this is a good hobby because at least it won't run out on you. He believes that every air rail shelter should contain a deck of cards.

Each one of these enthusiasts has a great deal to say in favor of his own hobby. I may say, however, that the stamp collector and the classical musician have failed to convince me. I would like to be convinced by the dancing enthusiasts but I have long since been warned by the promptness with which one of my dancing partners suggests that we "sit the rest of it out" and there is no use in my attempting to learn the Conga.

Chess as a Hobby

Chess, which Dr. Karl Menninger selects for a favorite hobby, is defended with his usual dialectic skill. He related that when he used to play with another psychiatrist, his opponent would say, "Come on. We must go and wash our minds." He believes that chess appeals to certain people as a hobby because of its aggressiveness and destructiveness. People who do not play a good game of chess perhaps are not mean enough. It is not a pacifist's game. It was one of the favorite recreations of some of the world's military leaders, including William the Conqueror and Napoleon. The real object of chess, according to him, is father murder.

—in other words capture and immobilization of the King.

Favors Sitting Down

I am rather attracted to the chapters on maskmaking and poetry as hobbies. I would feel all right about photography and bird study except that when I pick a hobby, I want one during which I sit down. That is why I am in favor of the hobby of gasoline rationing. I hope it will get to the place where I can go home and sit down forever.

Questions and Answers

L. G.—What is the cause of constant sneezing during the day and at all seasons of the year?

Answer: Nasal infection either of the sinus or the nasal mucous membrane or perennial allergy from the presence of animals or house dust. I would suspect pet canaries, parrots, rabbits, cats, dogs and horses in that order; possibly a pillow stuffed with rabbit hair is the cause.

F. S.—If a person has tuberculosis are deep breathing exercises harmful?

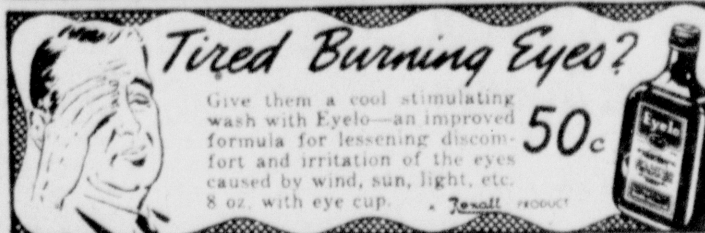

Answer: Yes. One of the most important principles of treatment in tuberculosis is rest, especially reduction in the number of inspirations. Deep breathing simply tends to spread the infection from one part of the lung to the other.

Dr. Myers Lists Habits Children Should Acquire

Parents Can Rate Their Youngsters According to Point System

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Below are listed a number of desirable habits for children. If your child is under school age, you may be interested in reading this list of habits with a view to working toward their cultivation. If your child is six or older you will want to ask yourself how many of these habits he has acquired. Take a pencil and rate your child. If the habit is well established rate that habit five; if never done, nothing; if done rarely, one; if more often, two; if half the time, three; if four fifths of the time, four. Your child may desire to make a rating of himself or to work out a rating with him.

Cleanliness First

Here is the list: (1) uses tooth brush regularly; (2) washes hands before meals without being told; (3) bathes regularly; (4) drinks proper quantity of milk; (5) drinks proper quantity of water; (6) does not handle food; (7) eats vegetables without complaint; (8) has good habits of elimination; (9) sleeps proper number of hours each night; (10) waits upon himself; (11) dresses and undresses himself; (12) is careful in crossing street; (13) never plays in the street; (14) is orderly in hanging up clothes in bedroom; (15) is orderly in putting away play and work materials; (16) puts cap, coat, rubbers, etc., in proper place on entering house; (17) does not tattle.

Shares his possessions (18); (19) is agreeable when he cannot have his own way; (20) is truthful; (21) does not cry upon slight physical injury; (22) submits to first aid without crying or flying into a rage;

(23) shows courage in respect to dental treatment; (24) is not cowardly when unjustly attacked; (25) controls himself when angry; (26) is kind to younger and weaker children; (27) is respectful toward aged persons; (28) is not a bully; (29) does not tease other children just to annoy them; (30) does not laugh at others' mistakes; (31) does not take or use property of others without their consent; (32) restores lost property to rightful owner on own initiative; (33) does not destroy or deface property; (34) returns borrowed property promptly; (35) anticipates wants and does not borrow; (36) is systematic in saving money; (37) is reverent during grace or prayer; (38) does assigned tasks without complaint; (39) promptly follows commands without their being repeated; (40) is a good loser; (41) is a graceful winner; (42) faces his auditors; (43) expresses himself clearly; (44) expresses himself without shyness; (45) shows no fear of thunder storms; (46) shows no fear of animals; (47) shows no fear of darkness.

Add other habits and check in the same way. You should not attempt to develop a large number of these habits at one time if you wish to be successful.

A perfect rating would be 235.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. An only child of 13 has recently become very grouchy.

A. This lad should be given a complete physical examination by a doctor. Study him to see if he has been meeting with great discouragements at school or among his friends. There must be a cause other than a desire to be disagreeable. He certainly needs patient, sympathetic and understanding treatment. I am sure punishment is not the answer.

"For sale: Four-room house, weak structure, poor lighting, cheap fixtures, inadequate location, $5,000, but not worth it. Any resemblance between this and the best houses in Anchorage is purely coincidental." He sold the house.

Bars Close Early To Soldiers, but Not to the Navy

SACRAMENTO, Calif., July 9 (P)—Under the rules, soldiers in Sacramento can be served hard liquor only between 6 p. m. and 10 p. m., while sailors can stand up to the bar and get anything they want as long as the place is open.

That is causing all kinds of friction," George Reilly, a member of the state board of equalization, reported to his colleagues. "The soldiers have to drink beer after 10 p. m. and they don't like it when sailors taunt them with 'why don't you join the navy?'"

There are feminine complications, too. "If the soldier has a girl friend," Reilly added, "she quits the army at 10 o'clock and goes over to the navy."

The board, however, let the matter drop after William Bonelli, Los Angeles member, observed, "that kind of girl shouldn't be in the place."

The army and navy commands set the drinking rules for their respective forces.

Prune-Flavored Ice Cream

If you are a little past the beginners' stage in the cooking game, you might want to try this prune-flavored ice cream when the warmer days creep up on you.

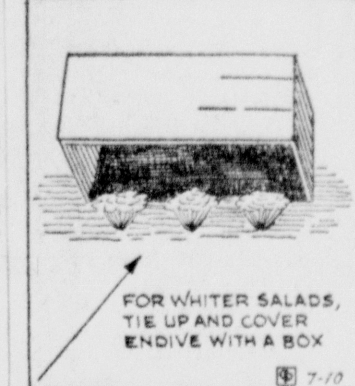

Ingredients: One teaspoon granulated gelatin; one tablespoon cold water; one large can evaporated milk; one fourth teaspoon cinnamon; one-eighth teaspoon powdered nutmeg; one-eighth teaspoon cloves; pinch of salt; two cups cooked prunes; three tablespoons brown sugar. Now follow these—

Directions: Soften gelatin in water, then dissolve in scalded milk. Add the spices and salt, mix well and chill. When it is chilled, whip the milk into thickness and add the prunes (diced) and sugar. Pour into a refrigerator tray and allow to freeze until set. Three or four hours may be required.

a good source of Vitamin B1, B2 and C.

As the heads of endive approach maturity they require blanching to make them become both crisp and white.

Many gardeners tie up each plant with raffia, the outer leaves over the inner ones, thus blanching the center. If rain comes, each plant must be untied, allowed to dry out and then retied.

An easier and a much more safe method of blanching is shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Tie up the plant when it is absolutely dry in the center (else it will rot) and cover with a box or large flower pot. When a flower pot is used, the drainage hole in the bottom should be plugged to keep out moisture and light.

While cabbage and cauliflower do well under a wide range of conditions, there are few crops that will respond as readily to moisture and fertilizer.

Scrap Rubber Used In New Baseballs

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—While denying that baseballs used by the two major leagues this season had lost any of their resiliency, the Spalding company admitted in a statement just released here that it had been necessary to use scrap rubber in the cores since last January instead of the pure crude rubber formerly employed.

Players of both leagues have been protesting vehemently ever since the campaign began that the official ball was much less lively than in other years. The manufacturers' statement was in reply to their complaints.

"The core still features the cushion center of cork and rubber," said Spalding. "The only difference here is that crude rubber is no longer used in the center, having been replaced by high grade reclaimed rubber. Driving machine tests conclusively show that no distance has been lost by this change."

Steel Company Seeks To Prove Collusion Between Board, Union

PHILADELPHIA, July 9 (AP)—The Western Steel Company has asked the United States circuit court of appeal for permission to present "photograph and dictaphone records and motion pictures" to back up its charge of collusion between the National Labor Relations Board and a union organizer in an investigation of the company's labor policies five years ago.

Robert B. Watts, chief counsel of the NLRB, declared the company had "shown evidence typical of industrial espionage, and the tool and trade of a company lawyer."

The court took the petition under advisement. Earl F. Reed, counsel for the company, asked the court to either hear his "evidence" or appoint a special examiner for that purpose before it acts on an NLRB request to enforce the board's order of last July 25 that Weirton reinstate seven dismissed employees with back pay and disband two independent unions.

Uncle Sam Comes To Rescue of Men Paying Alimony

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX, Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage—Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

It looks as if your Uncle Sam is beginning to take under his wing such of his nephews who have been long qualified as alimony martyrs. The other day the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives approved a proposal whereby a husband would be permitted to deduct alimony payments from his income tax. And the wife must include alimony among her taxable receipts. The question of alimony in this country, owing to our completely confused divorce laws, has long been the subject of merriment and ridicule. Several successful comedies have been written around its inconsistencies. As taxable income, it was pointed out the other day under the great White Dome, alimony would not result in an appreciable increase of revenue. Step Toward Reform

If the proposal is approved, it will be a step toward a much-needed reform. The granting of alimony in the United States goes back to a time when divorces were extremely rare and the laws of inheritance were all against women. A married woman, at that time, actually couldn't claim money left her by her own father, and few women were capable of earning their own livelihood. Thousands of alimony grants are made in this country in cases where it would otherwise mean destitution involving young children. Let's hope that Uncle Sam takes these into account through his lawmakers now that he's giving this break to alimony-paying males. There are cases where alimony is awarded to women whose individual income is several times that of the divorced husband. But there have also been cases in which alimony payments continue after the woman has re-married. There have actually been instances in which women have concurrently collected alimony from two or more former husbands. "Alimony Club" Formed After the last World War, when we were engulfed in a depression, the jails in some states were full of unemployed and penniless men held indefinitely on the complaint of former wives because of arrears of alimony. In the Tombs prison in New York city existed the famous "Alimony Club," where men, never convicted of any crime, were held. This procedure recalls the absurdity of the old English debtors' prison, where men were incarcerated for non-payment of debts, thereby being prevented from earning the wherewithal to pay such obligations. While this reform is under way, it might be well for Uncle Sam to consider whether the prospect of receiving alimony from men of ample income, where marriages remain childless, is not among the factors of our steadily increasing divorce rate. Rabbits Make a Hat MELBOURNE (P)—Every slouch hat worn by an Australian soldier is made from the fur of about nine rabbit skins which years of experiments have proved unequalled for durability.

Annual 4-H Girls Camp To Open in Garrett Sunday Afternoon

Marianna Long Is Named Director at Pleasant ValleyAchievement Program
Will Be Presented July
17, Visitation Day

OAKLAND, Md., July 9.—The annual 4-H camp for girls at the Pleasant Valley Recreational area near Bittering, will begin Sunday afternoon, July 12. It was announced by Miss Marianna Lee Long, home demonstration agent, who will be director.

Preceding the 4-H camp will be a Homemakers' weekend camp, from Saturday afternoon, July 11, to Sunday afternoon, July 12. Miss Long said a program had been planned for Saturday evening at 8 o'clock with Miss Venia H. Keller, assistant director of the Maryland Extension service; Miss Dorothy Emerson, State Girls' club agent; and Walter W. Dawson, as speaker. Dawson, chairman of the extension board of the county, will speak to the Homemakers on sugar planting.

All Homemakers are invited, whether or not they are remaining in the entire camp period. About twenty girls of the county have already arranged to attend the 4-H camp and Miss Long said she expected several more before the weekend. There will be a program of study and recreation throughout the week.

Among the instructors will be Miss Emerson, Miss Helen Miller and Mrs. Joseph F. Pauley, of the county health department; Miss Esther Lou Davis, for sports; Miss Mary Robb, Cumberland, for music; Miss Stella Corliss, for swimming; and Miss Esther Knowles, home management specialist, University of Maryland, for instruction in foods.

Friday, July 17, will be a visitation day when an Achievement program will be presented. All friends and relatives of those in camp will be welcome on that day.

Captures Faun

Last Tuesday a doe deer was run down and killed by a train at a point just west of Swanton. On Wednesday a faun, presumably the offspring of the doe, was seen wandering about the village by Jennie Lohr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade H. Joe. Lohr, who maneuvered the animal toward his home and captured it. The faun is being fed and cared for for the time being by the lad who caught it.

Pythians To Install

Knights of Pythias officers will be installed at the regular meeting of that organization tomorrow evening with Julius C. Renninger as installing officer.

Those to be installed include Clifford Phillips, chancellor commander; J. William Owens, vice-chancellor; Russell Pancake, prelate; Leonard Hathaway, master of work; Walter Hardesty, keeper of records and seal; Milburn W. Mann, master of finance; A. G. Gortner, master of exchequer; Robert W. Checkels, master at arms; Reaford Parbaugh, inside guard; and Lewis R. Jones, outside guard.

Refreshments will be served following the business meeting.

Secretary Named

Miss Jean Rush, Friendsville, has been appointed secretary to John H. Carter, county agent, and Miss Marianna Lee Long, home demonstration agent of the Extension service, it was announced. The appointment became effective July 1. She assumes the position formerly held by Miss Hazel Leitz, who resigned to accept a position with the Board of Education. Miss Rush is a graduate of the Fairmont Business college, Fairmont, W. Va.

Firemen Clear $1,000

Edward A. Shaffer, president of the Oakland Fire company, stated today that the organization would clear about $1,000 as the result of the week's celebration which closed last Saturday night. The company received a percentage of all money paid by customers at the carnival.

He said there were 4,500 admissions on the Fourth of July and about $500 on each of the other days. He also announced a gift of $100 from the Mt. Lake Park Camp Meeting Association in appreciation of the efforts of the firemen in saving the auditorium from total destruction last year.

Election Interest Low

Interest in the September primary election in Garrett county apparently is at a low ebb with only eleven candidates of both parties announcing themselves for office this far, and only five of the number having actually filed with the clerk of the board of supervisors of elections.

This is a county as well as a state election year when officers from the governor down to the county surveyor, are to be filled in. (Continued on Page 15, Col. 2)

Town of Somerset
Sends Flowers to Willard FuneralAction Taken by Citizens in Final Tribute to Man
Who Aided Town

SOMERSET, Pa., July 9.—Flowers from the Town of Somerset, Pa., was the way the residents and municipal officers of the little Pennsylvania community expressed their grief at the death of Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, who died Monday.

Besides being president of the railroad, Mr. Willard, was to the residents of Somerset, a man who had shown much interest in the community's welfare, and the flowers were a final tribute to the railroad man who was noted in the community for his many philanthropic contributions.

Few of Mr. Willard's friends knew of his interest in the town. If they ever knew, most of them had long forgotten.

But Somerset didn't forget. John I. Scull, president of the Somerset Trust Company and long a personal friend of Mr. Willard, today said the town never would forget.

It was during Mr. Willard's early years as president of the B. and O. Scull said, that the railroad shop and yards that provide much employment for Somerset's citizens were put into operation and the Boswell branch on the Somerset and Cambria Railroad, affiliated with the B. and O., was opened.

Mr. Willard is best remembered in Somerset, Scull said, for his ride to Somerset on a snow plow during the great blizzard of 1917 to break a coal bottleneck that threatened business losses and suffering in the town.

"Mr. Willard came out with his personal staff," Scull said. The snow was piled high all around the line, but Mr. Willard directed operations from the cab of a rotary plow and soon had the railroad tracks clear. No coal had moved into town for a week before Mr. Willard broke through."

Aided Purchase of Park On another occasion, Scull pointed out, Mr. Willard attended a picnic of the B. and O. employees in Somerset. The fete was held at Edgemere Park adjacent to the railroad yards. A campaign was under way to buy the park for the employees and Mr. Willard contributed $500 to the fund.

Later it was found that the park wouldn't be of much use unless a road could be built to the entrance and Mr. Willard promptly put up another $500 to help pay the cost of the road.

When news of Mr. Willard's death reached Somerset the town fathers ordered the floral offering for the grave.

Council Rejects Sunday Dancing Motion in Coney

City Asked To Stop Beer Trucks from Parking on Streets after 6 p. m.

LONA CONING, July 9.—A motion, made at a previous meeting of the Lonaconing city council, to permit Sunday dancing was unanimously rejected by the council at the July meeting this week.

The negative vote followed the protests of several prominent citizens of the community and of churches and local organizations.

Teachers Object
Prominent among the protests submitted were those from members of Central high school faculty, First Methodist church, First Presbyterian church, Pentecostal church, Assembly of God church and the Women's Society of Christian Science Organization.

The Rev. Thomas Dixon, pastor of First Presbyterian church, requested the council to take some action to prevent the parking of beer trucks on the streets after 6 p. m. and the council ordered the city clerk to write letters requesting local beer distributors to have their trucks off the streets after that hour.

The clerk was also ordered to write Governor Herbert R. O'Connor asking the governor's official assistance in the conversion of the Community Center building into a hospital, if the council voted approval of the project.

City Attorney Named
Horace Whitworth, Westernport attorney, was appointed city attorney at the meeting, and the council voted to increase the salary of the city treasurer from $50 to $100 a month.

A motion to remove a fire hydrant from its present location on Jackson street, near the city limits, to a less prominent place on the street, was approved by the council. The hydrant, according to officials, was responsible for a number of automobile accidents in the past year.

"Alibi's" Alibi Was Novel--But Everybody Believed Him

This fellow Max "Alibi" Terhune is a pretty clever guy, so Hollywood folks aver, but recently on the set of "Saddle Mountain Roundup" in which he co-stars with those other two Rangebusts "Crash" Corrigan and "Dusty" King, Terhune outsmarted himself.

One night between scenes of the picture, Terhune by accident, really walked into a door--yes he got it--a beautiful shiner! Now by all rights, that is the excuse not the reason so to straighten matters out, Terhune decided to reverse the procedure. The next day when friends asked him about the glimmer, he admitted that he had been fighting and got the mouse and rainbow in deadly combat. He figured that everybody would accuse him of walking into the well-known door. Imagine his mortification to find that everybody believed his story.

"Saddle Mountain Roundup," another Rangebuster saga is currently playing at the Embassy theater. In addition to the grace Rangebusts and "Alibi's" shiner, the cast includes Jack Mulhall, Jack M. Holmes, pretty Lita Conway, Steve Clark and John Elliot. Herald Goodman of radio fame aids in the musical department with novelty songs. S. Roy Luby directed.

Dance Bands Contribute Stars to Movies

Big name dance bands of the country are contributing more than their share to the new crop of Hollywood starlets. Rose Anne Stevens, who sang with Ozzie Nelson's orchestra on tour, is the latest to crash the studios. She was signed by Columbia and gets her first break as the feminine lead with Charles Starrett at the Garden theater in "Down Rio Grande Way."

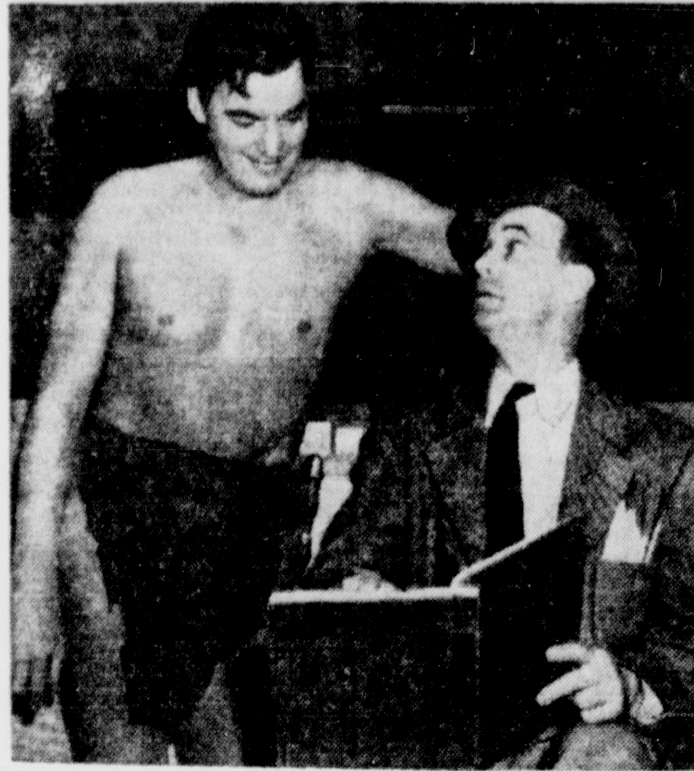

More Thrills in New York Than in Jungle

Tarzan traces an airplane-borne safari to civilization and experiences more thrills and adventure in New York than he ever encountered in the wilderness, in "Tarzan's New York Adventure," now playing at

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little PASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (identical breath). Get PASTEETH at any drug store. —Advertisement

TARZAN AND DIRECTOR THORPE

Johnny Weissmuller, clothed as Tarzan, goes over the script with Director Richard Thorpe on the set of "Tarzan's New York Adventure," currently appearing at the Maryland theater.

the Maryland theater with Johnny Weissmuller, Maureen O'Sullivan and Johnny Sheffield. In "Union Pacific," in which he played his first important screen role, Preston played the part of an adventurer in the West, hard-riding when he was beginning his career--that of a "Mountie" in "North West Mounted Police." In "This Gun for Hire," new Paramount pulse-pounding due Saturday at the Strand theater, in which the popular and handsome young actor co-stars with magnetic Veronica Lake.

Preston Changes Role--Pursuer--Not Pursued!

Robert Preston, let it be known, is taking a new direction in his film roles. Instead of being chased by the cops in his films, he is now doing the chasing. The reversal takes place in "This Gun for Hire," new Paramount pulse-pounding due Saturday at the Strand theater, in which the popular and handsome young actor co-stars with magnetic Veronica Lake. In "The Night of January 16," Preston led the gendarmes a merry chase through several action-packed reels, as he and pretty Ellen Drew raced away on the trail of a murderer. "Pacific Blackout" had him perpetually just a nightstick's length away from the police who wanted him for a murder he didn't commit in the first place. But in "This Gun for Hire," Preston does a complete about-face by playing the part of a detective lieutenant on the trail of The Raven, a callous, cunning killer, portrayed by Alan Ladd, handsome young screen newcomer appearing in his first prominent role. What makes the chase even more exciting in that Ladd forces Veronica Lake, Preston's sweetheart in the story, to accompany him on his flight, using her as a hostage and human shield. By playing the part of pursuer instead of pursued, Preston actually is reverting to type of role he played

Edwin L. Kuhn Resigns From Central Y.M.C.A.

Physical Director Sends Letter to Board; New Secretary Greeted

A letter of resignation from Edwin L. Kuhn, physical director of Central Y.M.C.A., was accepted by the board of directors last night, at a meeting to help the new management plan a program of activity and review reports.

The letter tendered Kuhn's resignation effective September 1. He has been physical director at the association here for more than a decade and is well known in the city. He is now assisting in conducting the Y.M.C.A. camp near Springfield, W. Va.

Herbert R. Johnson, the new general secretary at the local Y.M.C.A., who came here July 1, from Jersey City, met with the board of directors and was presented to each member by John J. He stated he is happy to be in Cumberland and believes the Y.M.C.A. can be made to fill its place in the community.

A number of committees were agreed upon and the chairman stated they would be appointed within the next week. The committees to include personnel, membership, house, boys' work, physical department, camp, home camp, religious and liability and insurance.

Ray Eves, Harvey H. Weiss, W. Donald Smith and Mrs. E. P. Phillips were named a committee to plan an open dinner to formally greet the new secretary and review the progress made by the institution since its reorganization, and at the same time outline the program that lies ahead.

Other directors present included C. A. Piper, Edward Allan, J. W. Bishop, C. William Gluchrist, Mrs. C. N. Philippi, the Rev. Alfred J. Chesser, Dr. A. H. Hawking, Lloyd Williams, C. Little Dog's Help Not Appreciated

SPOKANE, Wash., July 9 (AP)—A little dog, had the best shot of the day in the Western Amateur Golf Tournament.

Except that it wasn't a shot. Off the first tee Ralph drove into the rough. Then out of the tall grass trotted a little dog, Ralph's dog, in his mouth. It dropped the ball on the fairway, so close to the green.

Ralph had to carry it back in the rough.

tries to escape being drafted into the armed services.

"I hold no brief for the local draft boards but the truth of the matter is that deferments are too numerous and something should be done to correct this laxity," Pyle said.

City Council

However, if the city does not exercise options it holds on the land now in question, work cannot begin and the airport project as a whole will be jeopardized, so far as completion is concerned.

Needed To Give Clearance

At the meeting yesterday, Stanley Hillock, WPA supervisor at the airport, explained that the additional land is needed to provide clearance for planes using runway number two. There are hundreds of thousands of cubic yards of earth to be excavated from the site, and the earth is also needed to complete fills at the other end of the port.

Observers express the opinion that the city council is looking at the proposition merely as the purchase of a tract of land, while in reality they are purchasing land needed for the airport and at the same time buying a large quantity of dirt which must be obtained to complete fills elsewhere on the site.

City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer expressed the opinion that the amount involved in the purchase of the land, compared to the expenditure by the federal government on the project is so small, that it should not be worried about. The city's total cost of the project was originally estimated at $200,000 and even if it reaches $250,000, it is a small price to pay for a $3,000,000 airport, he said.

Joe Cronin Hits Long Fly To Beat Tigers

Boston Wins 2 to 1 In Eleventh when Bases Are Loaded

Overtime Game Featured by Stirring Pitchers' Duel

BOSTON, July 9 (AP)—Manager Joe Cronin, pinch-hitting with the bases loaded and one out in the eleventh inning, banged out a long fly that sent Pete Fox home with the run that gave his Boston Red Sox a 2-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers today.

The overtime game was a stirring pitchers' duel between Broadway Charlie Wagner and Lefty Hal Newhouse until the final frame.

Fox opened the eleventh by singling to left, the only Boston hit that cleared the infield during the game. Ted Williams then collected his third hit by bunting safely down the third base line and both advanced on Bobby Doerr's sacrifice. After Newhouse purposely passed Jim Tabor, Cronin batted for Tony Lupien and, with the count three and two—rapped a fly into left field. Fox beat Don Ross's feeble throw to the plate by a wide margin. Newhouse forced in the first Boston run in the fourth inning, when Don DiMaggio beat out a hit to short, Johnny Pesky sacrificed, Fox collected a scratch single and, after Williams fanned, Doerr and Tabor were passed to over-load the bases.

The Tigers collected half of their hits in the sixth, when they pulled into a 1-1 tie on Bill Hitchcock's single and Barney McCosky's triple. DETROIT

The Mystery of Whirlaway

Next Wednesday, at Suffolk, Whirlaway has his big chance to pass the Seabiscuit all-time money-winning mark in the $50,000-added Massachusetts Handicap. There is an excellent chance that Whirlaway will handle this situation, despite the fact that he has more than one serious challenger. He won't be running alone.

There is still one vital point to be considered in rating the Warren Wright-Ben Jones entry with the flowing tail—how many lengths will he have to make up in the stretch, and why should he have to spot the field such killing distances before he starts to run.

There have been times when Whirlaway has won thirty lengths back of the leader—other times when he was fully twenty lengths off the pace. We wondered, with the speed he has down the stretch, why he should be so bviously slow in getting away, leaving himself such killing handicaps to overcome on his way to the wire.

We put this query up to Ben Jones, his trainer.

The Ben Jones Angle

"Whirlaway," Trainer Jones said, "can get away faster than he often has done. He isn't a fast breaker and he isn't an early speed horse. But he has enough early speed to keep within six or seven lengths of the leader, anyway."

"I can see no reason for him being twenty or thirty lengths back of the pacemaker at any stage of the race. He should never be allowed to get that far away. I know he's a hard horse to rate, for he likes to come from behind and then make his race down the stretch. A lot depends on whether he is going up against speed or against route horses. He has to be rated differently. But at Suffolk next week I don't believe you'll see him trailing so far away before they hit the head of the stretch."

Another Angle

At this point another veteran trainer cut in. "Whirlaway," he said, "is the hardest horse in racing to pace correctly. He is a horse which has one blazing burst of speed in his system. He could use that up at the start, and then he'd think the race was over. I don't believe there ever was a horse that could run faster at a certain stage of the race."

"The trouble is that few jockeys have handled him the right way. They let him fall too far behind—they give him too much to do before he can win."

"There might be something in that," Jones said. "But that isn't the instruction I give. I don't want the horse left so far out of it. Honestly, he won a race at Pimlico no one could have won on a motorcycle. He was a sixteenth of a mile back at one time. I still don't see how he won it."

The coming $50,000 race at Suffolk next week can be the most important single event in the history of the American turf—at least, along financial lines. It can crown a new all-time money winner, and the money side is the big part of racing.

But against such horses as Marked Wise, which has beaten Whirlaway twice, or Attention, no part of a slouch, or some other lightweight entry, unless there are numerous scratches, Whirlaway's rider can't afford any lapses.

"In this race," Jones said, "I'd like to have Whirlaway within striking distance. I know he has enough early speed to keep within a few lengths of any pacemaker. I certainly don't want to see him trailing by any twenty or thirty lengths. And there's no reason why he should be that far away."

"I'll admit he's an odd horse—a different horse. But he's still a great horse. I don't want to see him out in front at the start. He likes to catch horses. I don't mind him being even last. But I'd still like to have him running in the same county. And I know he can keep up close enough to the leaders to make his run and pass them on the way home."

A Different Horse

As Trainer Jones says, "Whirlaway is a different horse." Certainly, no other horse ever spotted the opposition so many lengths—Man o' War, Seabiscuit, Exterminator, Saracen, Twenty Grand, Equinox—all along the line.

And yet in spite of his delayed early running, Whirlaway is never far from a track record, and it often takes a track record to beat him—two late instances being the Doubirab and Tola Rose victories. —North American Newspaper Alliance.

Yanks Show Old-Time Power To Win 5-2

Whip St. Louis Outfit as King Peter Looks On

Murphy Relieves Borowy after Latter Develops Blister on Finger

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—The New York Yankees, rested after a mid-season intermission for the All-Star games, turned loose some of their old-time power today to whip the St. Louis Browns, 5-2, in their series opener as Hank Borowy registered his seventh pitching triumph against one defeat.

Borowy, top ranking pitcher of the American League, held the Browns to six hits in seven and two-thirds innings but he had to turn the game over to Johnny Murphy when a blister developed on the middle finger of his right hand.

With King Peter of Yugoslavia among the spectators, the Yankees went to work on Eldon Auker early, scoring three runs in the fourth. Joe DiMaggio, Tommy Henrich and Charlie Keller led the nine-hit Yankee attack. The Yanks started their scoring drive when DiMaggio brought home a run with a double, one of his two hits.

Keller was passed purposely, but Joe Gordon singled DiMaggio home and Buddy Roser's single scored Keller.

Henrich blasted his ninth home run of the season into the right field stands in the seventh and Keller followed with his tenth four-bagger in the eighth.

The Browns scored both their runs off Borowy, the first in the sixth when Harland Clift reached first on a forceout, moved to third on a single by George McQuinn and came home on Walt Judnich's outfield fly.

Judnich also drove in the other run in the eighth with a double which scored McQuinn, who had reached first on Buddy Hasset's error.

The victory enabled them to hold their four-game lead over the Boston Red Sox.

MAGIC EYE SHOWS MEDWICK'S 'COMEBACK' SWING

Getting set . . .

It's one he likes . . .

Joe starts swinging . . .

Eye on the ball . . .

Whammo . . . !

And follow through.

Wide World Features

When Joe Medwick left St. Louis in 1940 for the more turbulent confines of Brooklyn there was many a Flatbush fan who cast a disapproving eye at Ducky. Too well the Dodger fans recalled the popular belief that Branch Rickey never let a man go unless he had little left in him.

Whatever doubts the Loyal had about Medwick are dispelled today because Joe is the man who came back — all the way. His last couple of seasons with the Cardinals had been on the erratic side; his hitting wasn't that of the Medwick of a few years back. Nor was his first year with Brooklyn very inspiring.

Medwick had a fair 318 season with the Dodgers last year but this season he has been the Medwick of old. His batting average is hovering around the .340 mark and he recently compiled a hitting streak that went 27 straight games before he was halted—a major league high this year.

Some critics say his fielding has improved, too, because of the renewed confidence his stick work has brought him.

COLTS WILL PLAY DORMONT CLUB HERE SUNDAY

The Bi-State Colts will return to the local diamond Sunday afternoon when they play host to the fast Dormont club of the Pittsburgh district, the game being scheduled for Community park at 3 p. m.

The Colts hope to continue their winning ways Sunday after taking two out of three games last weekend from the Cameo A. A. club of Washington, D. C., before small crowds at Westernport.

Dormont, which is managed by Bill Puch, is leading the Greater Pittsburgh league, being a game ahead of Oakmont. One of the pitchers with the Dormont club is Al Mackey, son of Leo Mackey, former manager of the Cumberland Colts of the Middle Atlantic league. He turned back Elma 6 to 0 this week. Mackey of the veteran spitball hurler Leo Carroll will be on the mound for the visitors Sunday.

Braves Beat Cubs In Thirteenth 4-3

CHICAGO, July 9 (AP)—Buddy Grempp's third home run of the season in the thirteenth inning today gave the Boston Braves a 4 to 3 victory over the Chicago Cubs in the opener of a three-game series.

Earlier in the game Chief Ross's fourth homer of the season in the third inning with one on base had given the Braves a 2 to 0 lead over the Cubs.

The Cubs, however, scored twice in the seventh and then tied it at three-all when Lou Novikoff singled in the last of the ninth with Stanley Hack on second as a result of his fourth hit of the game.

Tarzan Quits Grid for Army

ATLANTA, July 9 (AP)—Arthur "Tarzan" White, who played on the University of Alabama football team that defeated Stanford in the Rose Bowl in 1935, has entered the army for a career. White, who later played professional football, is undergoing "induction processing" at Fort McPherson.

Ward Barely Wins In Golf Tourney

Completes Two Rounds of Western Amateur in Sluggish Fashion

The National as well as Western (list), put out Otto Rosard, Spokane, 7 and 6 in the first round and then had to struggle to beat Fritz Metzger of Tacoma, 3 and 2 in the second round.

Ward blew from an even par game in his initial round to a wobbly display in the afternoon when his own efforts were less effective than the faults of his opponents in determining the final outcome.

He closed out Metzger on the sixteenth green and was four over par at the time. His putting was bad and his tee shots were. Metzger's mishaps on the greens possibly cost him a chance to have the distinction of referring to "when I beat Ward." He three-putted the seventh and missed a short one on the ninth, with the title holder getting a standoff each time.

Red Wrack Wins Feature Race At Hagerstown

Mrs. Mary Knieriem's Horse Pays $9.30 for Each $2 Ticket

HAGERSTOWN, Md., July 10 (AP)—Red Wrack, in the white and black colors of Mrs. Mary Knieriem, of Cumberland, Md., won the featured Hotel Alexander handicap today in a photo finish.

Neither Weatherite nor Light of Morn, the two favorites, finished in the money. The Alexander was a roughly run six and a half furlongs due to the inclination of a couple of horses to bear out at the turn.

Ridden by Patsy Grant, Red Wrack earned his victory by a neck margin over G. D. McCleary's Spectator, which had Buddy Root in the saddle. Two lengths back of this pair Ewart Johnston's Royal Business picked up third money.

Red Wrack was timed in 1:21 1-5 over a fast track and his backers in the crowd of 5,000 collected $9.30 for $2.

Coach Byham Will Use Double-Wing Attack This Fall

New Western Maryland Mentor Says Things Are Indefinite at Present

WESTMINSTER, Md., July 9 (AP)—Football is football, whether high school or college, so S. Leroy Byham is going to try out at Western Maryland the double-wing attack he used so successfully at Collingwood, N. J., high school.

The former star Terror tackle, who opened many a path for Western Maryland backs of the early twenties, said today, however, that it will be only a trial.

Byham succeeded Lieut. Charlie Havens, former Terror coach and athletic director who obtained a leave of absence for army service. Byham will remain as coach, it is understood, after Havens returns to his post of athletic director.

The Collingwood high school team knocked down six regional championships and one tie for state honors while Byham was the pilot, and his baseball teams there had a winning average of .902 and in seven years took five regional, three All-South Jersey and one All-State titles.

Byham remarked that he saw some real possibilities in spotting two backs on the weak side of an unbalanced line, sending the runner off from that formation on outside running-spinner attacks.

Beyond the fact that he would try the double-wing, Byham said "there isn't much I can say about my plans for Western Maryland. Things are indefinite."

Still unfamiliar with the material, he nevertheless reported that six men expected back are entering the service. "Their loss will hurt," he added, "for all figured in last year's varsity setup."

Byham is negotiating with Ted Laux, one of the Collingwood boys who later played at the University of Kentucky and more recently for Camden, N. J., professional eleven, for the backfield coaching spot.

Several outstanding athletes were developed by Byham, who is starting on his first college coaching job. Three of them now are in state schools.

They are Lew Yerkes, three-sport star for Washington college; Fred Bohn, football lineman for Western Maryland; and Hubert Werner, University of Maryland sophomore who may be one of Clark Shaughnessy's better men this fall.

K. of P. Team Wins Over C. and A. Gas With 5-Run Rally

A last inning rally which netted them five runs brought the Knights of Pythias softball team an eight to six win over the C. and A. Gas Company outfit yesterday.

The gas company team slugged out three hits in each of the first two innings to go into a six nothing lead but the K. of P. team pecked away with one run each in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings and then exploded the game winning runs.

Hobell hurried for the losers while Leighty was on the mound for the winners. The game was played at Port Hill.

Hard To Believe

MILWAUKEE, (AP)—For the first time in more years than anyone can remember, there isn't an ice man or a life guard on the roster of Marquette footballers' summer jobs. All are in war industries, construction gangs, and, of course, Milwaukee breweries.

BASEBALL BANTER

By JUDSON BAILEY

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—When Mayor LaGuardia complimented the crowd at the Polo Grounds for its orderly conduct during the blackout after the All-Star game he didn't know that the pocket of Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, was picked of $50 or that several bottles were thrown from the upper stands and one shattered dangerously close to Connie Mack. The stately old fellow and his party left their box immediately. The chief reason Bobby Feller has lost ten pounds weight is that his father is desperately ill at Mayo clinic.

Possibly as a result of the Brooklyn Dodgers sending a makeshift team of substitutes to Kansas City for an exhibition one paper in Milwaukee limited its buildup for the Brooks' exhibition there yesterday to a one-column picture of Fred Fitzsimmons. But Leo Durocher showed off his regulars for Milwaukee and coached at third base himself. The reason first baseman Max West of the Boston Braves tried to take a poke at Beans Reardon the other day was that the umpire called him a "semitro" and the way shortstop Johnny Pesky of the Red Sox was able to work the hidden ball trick on the Yanks' Tom Henrich was Henrich telling Umpire Ed Rommel about the lead off the base taken by Ray Mack of Cleveland in another game. "It was this far," said Henrich as he stepped off the bag—and got tagged.

Most fans believed a player cannot be charged with an error unless he touches the ball, but Tom Swope of Cincinnati charged one against shortstop Eddie Joost for not covering second on a force play and proved there is no rule against it. Incidentally the scoring in both All-Star games was charitable.

Henry Edwards, retired publicity chief of the American League, made the long trip from his home in Alabama to see the Cleveland service game. Somebody jibed Frank Pytlak about his old days with the Indians, when he used to go AWOL occasionally. "Boy, it's different in the navy," he answered. "It was easier to pay a $200 fine than it is to do kitchen police."

Layden Says Army Teams May Be Best In the Country

National League Is Determined To Carry on at All Costs

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
(Punch hitting for Whitney Martin, Wide World columnist)

CHICAGO, July 9 (Wide World)—"National League Club owners are determined to carry on at all costs with what material is left. They view it as a patriotic duty to contribute whatever they can to the morale and to the physical well being of America."

That's Elmer Layden, $20,000 a year president of the National Professional Football League, summing up the policy of the league for its first war year.

What lies ahead for the professional game, however, is problematical. The squads may be smaller, and the attendance may show a sharp decline from the banner, big money year of 1941. Replacements must be made because of the terrific loss in personnel.

The league now has 158 men in the armed services. This figure includes 121 of the 346 men who played in the league games last year and thirty-seven players who were members of the National League teams at the close of the 1940 season, but who were called last summer before the opening of the training season.

Competitive Athletics Important
All of that is not disturbing to Layden, who preaches that competitive athletics are necessary elements in American life. He says:

"They promote the essential attributes of teamwork, self-sacrifice and loyalty, around which we rally in times of stress. For generations they have served as the common bond between the young and the old, rich and poor."

If democracy means anything at all, its dynamic powers and justification must spring from its spirit and not from the political theories, laws or constitution in which the system is expressed.

"Nowhere is this spirit more prevalent than in competitive athletics."

Strangely enough, Layden believes the army may develop eleven that will be the outstanding aggregations in the country.

"There will be some great football played this year, Layden predicted, and the best of it most likely will develop in the games between the National League teams and the eleven recruited from the ranks by the War department to help swell the army emergency relief fund. We have eighty-nine players in the army alone. Of course, not all of them will be available for the service eleven since nearly a dozen are already on the battle line in the far reaches of the globe. But with the college men who are in the service and a nucleus for two championship teams from our league, the army eleven are likely to be the best in the country."

Football's worth as a mental and physical conditioner for war is manifest, Layden pointed out, in the army's and navy's intensive conditioning program.

"The public is beginning to realize that the army and the navy officers knew precisely what they were doing when they enlisted the help of football coaches and other athletic men in the strenuous conditioning programs necessary to toughen men for modern warfare," Layden continued.

"The army and the navy and those in athletics who frequently were attacked for defending the athlete and his commission knew no man was being given an easy job in a safe place because he was adept in kicking a football. It took a little time, however, for the public to learn that these men evenually would get to the front and that they would be in the thick of terribly strenuous and important work before they got there."

Within six weeks the league players not yet called for military duty will be on the training fields getting prepared for the 1942 football campaign.

TOO BIG A SACRIFICE. NO SACRIFICE is too big to make, to help your country win this war. But that is so only because what we stand to win or lose is so tremendous. In every case, the sacrifice or hazard of sacrifice should be comparable to the proposition which is at stake. In bridge this may be applied logically by pointing out that a very considerable sacrifice is worth while to prevent a slam, but a much smaller one to prevent a mere game. Being beaten deliberately for an amount of points which is more than the game is worth—that is too big a sacrifice.

Up to and including the call of 3-No Trumps, there was nothing particularly wrong about that bidding, except perhaps that South was a little venturesome in risking the bid with only one stopper in hearts. As it turned out, if South took the second heart trick, he then could have run five clubs, four diamonds and a spade for a total of 11 tricks or his contract plus two extras. West went away overboard, however, when he sacrificed at 4-Hearts. With only seven tricks in sight in his own hand, he was overbidding three, hoping to take a trick or two in his partner's hand, which was very unwise in view of the opponents' strong bidding. He actually took no tricks in his partner's hand, but only seven in his own. He was therefore down three, giving the opponents a score of 800, instead of a plain game plus a couple of extra tricks, which would have been worth about 660. If he had been not vulnerable, the sacrifice would have paid, as entailing a loss of only 500 points, less than the value of a game.

FSA Committees Are Appointed In Two Counties

Allegany and Garrett Farm Groups Will Serve for Coming Year

Appointments of farm security committees for Garrett and Allegany counties for the coming year were announced yesterday by John D. Leatherman, of Oakland, and Kenneth R. Wagoner, of Grantsville, Farm Security Administration supervisors.

J. H. Wood, FSA regional director, congratulated the committees.

County committees are patriotic citizens enlisted by the government to give aid and advice to FSA's program of assisting small farmers.

Fine Service Praised

"Because of their fine service in the Food for Freedom campaign most committees whose terms expired this year have been re-appointed," Wood said.

"Thanks to their excellent work, small farmers were mobilized immediately into the Food for Freedom program, promulgated after Pearl Harbor. I believe that small farmers adjusted themselves to the wartime program more readily than any other group in our national economy."

The committees, selected for personal integrity, good judgment and their willingness to be of public service, are sympathetic to pressing problems of rural people which the government is now trying to solve.

Committees co-operate with local groups—county land-use committees, AAA committees and civic organizations—in attacking community problems as they affect small farmers.

The FSA committee advises the agency in making loans to deserving farmers who are otherwise without credit and it helps borrower families plan efficient farm operations.

Allegany Committees

The following are members of the Allegany county committee:

Lee Prazee, Flintstone, farmer; chairman Allegany County Land Use Planning; member of State Land Use Planning; supervisor of Agriculture Adjustment Administration; member of the advisory committee for Upland Game and Fish Commission; member of Agriculture.

Officer Kime Asks To Appear Before Council

Special Meeting Called for Saturday Morning by Mayor Conlon

A special meeting of the mayor and city council has been called for Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock, according to Mayor Thomas P. Conlon.

At that time former city police officer Curia MacArthur Kime will appear before council. According to city officials, Sergeant Kime, who is now in the United States Marine Corps, has asked for an opportunity to appear before council.

At Monday's meeting of the council, a letter was presented from Sgt. Kime, asking for his vacation pay. Commissioner of Police and Fire James Orr stated that he objected to paying the former officer his vacation pay and said since the officer left here, it has come to his attention that Kime sold city property.

Officials believe Kime expects to answer these charges at the special session.

Action on Purchase Delayed Indefinitely because of Price

The purchase of additional land needed to complete the municipal airport was discussed at a conference of the mayor and city council and other officials yesterday afternoon. Action was tabled indefinitely.

VFW Post To Present Emblem of Honor Pin To John D. Preston

Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will invite John D. Preston, of Barton, father of five sons serving in the armed service of the United States, to come to Cumberland for a special ceremony at which he will be presented a five-star Emblem of Honor lapel button, offered by the Emblem of Honor Association, of New York city.

Charles K. Dyche, chairman of the service star committee of the local post, said that a posthumous award of a five-star deluxe size Emblem of Honor pin, will also be presented to Mr. Preston in behalf of his late wife, Mrs. Ruth Preston, 43, who died June 30, in Memorial hospital.

Two of the five Preston brothers are in foreign service with the United States Army.

Grocers Must Get Permits To Join Food Stamp Plan

Will Be Issued July 14 in City Hall; County Has 1,400 Eligibles

Wholesale and retail grocers, green goods dealers and meat packers must register Tuesday, July 14, at 8 p. m. in the city hall council chamber to participate in the Food Stamp Plan which will be inaugurated the latter part of next week in Allegany county.

It is estimated that there are 500 retail and wholesale grocers in the county and regardless of the number registered the plan will go into effect for the benefit of those persons receiving public assistance.

Grocers who register will receive a permit from the Department of Agriculture to redeem the blue and orange stamps and those who do not obtain permits positively cannot participate in the plan.

Circulars have been printed giving full particulars on the plan and each grocer who signs up will receive a kit containing advertising matter essential to the carrying out of the program in the stores.

Enthusiasm in the plan is steadily growing according to Miss Irene Olson, executive secretary of the Allegany County Welfare Board, and to date approximately 125 individuals who have received questionnaires have advised the board they will participate.

Fourteen hundred persons receiving public assistance will be eligible to participate in the plan in Allegany county, Miss Olson said.

William H. Harper, of the Agricultural Marketing Administration, Baltimore, will give a full explanation of the Food Stamp Plan at Tuesday's meeting of grocers.

Farmers Picnic To Be Held At Union Grove

Elaborate Program Being Arranged for Outing Wednesday, July 29

The annual farmers' picnic will be held at Union Grove camp meeting grounds, Wednesday, July 29, according to R. F. McHenry, Allegany county farm agent.

A special program of music, playlets, demonstrations and other events is being arranged, including a concert by the Barton band. Arrangements have been made to have dinners, sandwiches and other refreshments served by the Pleasant Grove Methodist church.

Demonstrations under the supervision of the University of Maryland and the United States Department of Agriculture have been arranged, and a program of games is planned for the young people in the afternoon.

One of the features of the picnic this year will be a contest to decide who is the outstanding farm girl of the county. A committee selected by the Farm bureau will award the winner $5 in cash, while second, third and fourth place winners will receive $4, $3, and $1, respectively. The winner of the contest will represent the county in a state contest at the State Fair at Timonium, if the fair is held this year.

Ten New Volumes Are Commended To Local Readers

'American Unity and Asia' and 'Japan Rides the Tiger' Now at Library

Three books on timely subjects—"Miracle on the Congo," "Japan Rides the Tiger" and "American Unity and Asia"—are among the new volumes added to the shelves of the Cumberland Free Public Library, according to Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian.

"Miracle on the Congo," a report from the Free French front, is written by Ben Lucien Burman. An American novelist, famous for his stories of the Mississippi, Burman for months was America's sole source of information about the Free French.

"Japan Rides the Tiger," a first hand account of the Japanese and their drive for world dominion is written by Willard Price, an author who has lived for years in Japan and has traveled the length and breadth of the empire. This book is a colorful narrative intensely interesting to the every day reader who wants to know why the Japanese ride the tiger of conquest to certain disaster.

Pearl Buck's latest book, "American Unity and Asia," is a small volume urging a world union of free peoples.

Story of Great Lakes

"The Long Ship Passing," the story of the Great Lakes, by Walter Havighurst, is a volume full of scenes that have meaning for all America. Mr. Havighurst visited more than thirty Great Lakes ports large and small between Duluth and Buffalo gathering material for this book. In every port he found record-breaking activity.

Other titles include: "Nutrition in Health and Disease," by Lenna F. Cooper. "The Last Time I Saw Paris," by Elliot Paul. "Builders and Pioneers of Australia," by Arthur Jones. "Your Hay Fever," a scientific discussion of its causes and prevention, by Oren G. Dunham. "Sketching from Nature," by P. J. Glass. "Indian Legends of American Scenes," by Marion Gridley.

NAVAL MAN WILL INTERVIEW HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES

A senior member of the United States Naval Aviator Cadet Board, Washington, D. C., will be in Cumberland on July 20 to interview high school graduates interested in the navy's V-5 naval aviation program. Chief Petty Officer George J. Carroll, local recruiter, announced last night.

Since the educational requirements for naval aviator cadet flight training have been broadened to include high school graduates with officer qualifications many local high school graduates have become interested in the V-5 program. Officer Carroll said.

Several of the local veterans organization, civic and fraternal groups will be asked to send representatives to the meeting, Carroll said. The organizations will be asked to co-operate in securing enlistments for the V-5 naval aviation cadet flight training program so vital to the country's war effort. He added.

The meeting will be held in the recruiting office, third floor, post office building at 9 a. m.

Farmer Rescues His Wife and Three Children from Blazing Bungalow

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hill and Children Have Narrow Escape

A family of five was trapped in their blazing home on Warrior Mountain early yesterday morning but the father, Herman Hill, crashed through a flaming door and succeeded in extricating members of his family, who escaped to their nightclothes.

The fire broke out about 2 a. m. and Hill was awakened by the crackling of flames and smell of smoke. The door from the bedroom to living room was a mass of flames and warped shut. Hill awakened his wife and three children and then lunged at the door to effect the family's escape.

House Burns to Ground

Within a short time the three-room bungalow burned to the ground and in addition the family's garden and other possessions for thirty feet around the house were destroyed. Their car was untouched however.

The Hill family went to one of their neighbors for shelter. Besides the father and mother the family consists of three children, age five and four years and an infant about nineteen months.

The family's entire possessions except the car and the unburned section of the 112-acre farm were lost. Hill said a sum of money was destroyed in the fire and after the blaze he found several melted coins in the ashes.

Red Cross Gives Aid

Yesterday the family went to stay temporarily at the home of Mrs. Hill's mother in Oldtown. The local chapter of the Red Cross furnished clothing and food for the family.

C. & P. Telephone Employees Adopt 10 Per Cent Plan

95 Per Cent of 135 Workers Will Enroll by July 15, Schleunes Says

Approximately ninety-five per cent of the 135 employees of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company in Garrett and Allegany counties will apply ten per cent or more of their salaries to the purchase of United States war bonds by July 15, it was announced yesterday by Robert L. Schleunes, manager of the local office.

One hundred and fifteen or ninety-four per cent of the 122 employees contacted to date have agreed to participate in the ten per cent payroll deduction plan. The remaining thirteen will be contacted by the company when they return from their vacation.

The combined payroll of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company for Garrett and Allegany counties amounts to about $185,000 and it is estimated that employees of the two counties will invest approximately $18,000 in government bonds when the new plans go into effect.

The payroll deduction plan was inaugurated some time ago by the telephone company but a majority of the employees invested less than ten per cent of the earnings in war bonds, Schleunes said.

Transportation Group Will Hear State Speakers

McCandless and Denton Will Address Committee in City Hall Tonight

Two representatives of the Baltimore Association of Commerce will explain the plan for car-pooling in order to obtain a supplementary supply of gasoline to members of the local War Transportation committee at a meeting in the city hall council chamber this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The speakers will be Byron McCandless and L. H. Denton, who have made a thorough study of the car-pooling problem.

Chairmen of Groups

Ralph E. Lashley is chairman and William M. Somerville is co-chairman of the War Transportation committee. Chairmen of sub-committees named at a meeting held here Tuesday evening are Leo H. Lay, industry; George A. Meyers, labor; Adolf Bunk, transportation; Gordon L. Bowie, business, and Charles L. Kopp, schools.

Lashley said that the meeting will be for members of the committee, also representatives of the Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions and Exchange clubs.

Methods workers may use in forming "share your car groups" will be explained as well as other phases of the transportation problem in war time.

McCandless and Denton will come here from Hagerstown where they addressed a transportation group last evening. They inaugurated their tour on Wednesday evening when they spoke at a car-pooling rally in Frederick.

War Bond, Stamp Drive Reaches Total of $11,136

One-fourth of Retailers' Goal Is Reported in First Seven Days

War bond and stamp sales totaling $11,136.40 have been reported by eighty-six Cumberland retail stores since the "Retailers for Victory" drive was inaugurated here July 1. The figure includes sales made July 7.

The eighty-six stores reporting represent less than one-third of the establishments participating in the drive and the total represents almost one-fourth of the $46,000 the Mercantile bureau pledged to Allegany county's war bond sale quota this month.

Banks here reported a stimulus in their sales of bonds immediately after the retail drive started but no bank sales are included in the $11,136.40.

More than $7,000 of the total reported was obtained July 1 when the campaign opened with a fifteen minute cessation of retail sales from noon to 12:15 p. m. and store personnel concentrated their efforts on selling war stamps and bonds.

The remaining $4,000 has been sold since that date and members of the Mercantile bureau feel certain that the total will be increased considerably when reports are received from other retail establishments taking part in the drive.

Another effort to boost sales of war stamps will be started today when corsages and boutonnieres made of war stamps will be placed on sale in local stores. "American Heroes' Day," July 17, also will be observed locally with a concentrated drive to sell war securities.

Climax of "Retailers for Victory" month will be the appearance here Wednesday of Loretta Young, nationally known film star, who is coming in behalf of both the Mercantile bureau and the Allegany County War Bond committee.

Draft Deferments Viewed by Pyle As No. 1 Legion Convention Problem

Loretta Young's Appearance Now Set for July 15

Contract Commitments Force Film Star To Change Plans

The appearance in Cumberland of Loretta Young, nationally famous film star, has been changed to Wednesday, July 15—instead of July 18, it was announced yesterday by John R. Wilkinson, advertising manager of the "Retailers for Victory" war bond and stamps campaign here.

Due to contract commitments, Miss Young must leave the East for California on July 16 and thus will be unable to appear here July 18.

Rather than disappoint members of the Mercantile bureau and the Allegany County War Bond committee, Miss Young agreed to appear here next Wednesday, Charles A. Piper, chairman of the War Bond committee, notified the Mercantile bureau of the change in plans late yesterday afternoon.

Although the exact hour of Miss Young's arrival is not known yet, it is expected that she will get here shortly after noon and remain in Cumberland for at least three hours.

Work On Paving Huge Runway At Airport Starts

Long-Delayed Material Arrives and Contractor Begins Project

Work on the new municipal airport near Wiley Ford, is progressing steadily and runway number one will soon be completed, officials at the port say.

Progress was delayed for a short time because the Cumberland Contracting Company could not obtain asphalt and other material needed to surface the runway. However, material has arrived and work on oiling the runway began this week.

It is expected that laying of blacktop will be started by the first of the week and will be completed early next month.

Runway number one is about 6,000 feet long and 150 feet wide. It is one of the longest runways of this type in the country, and when completed will accommodate any kind of plane now flying, officials say.

The airport project includes three other runways, each about half as long as runway number one. When the port is completed all of these will be paved with similar materials.
